COLES POINT, Va. — High winds and rough water forced searchers to temporarily abandon their hunt today for a missing boat with three persons feared dead in a Potomac River accident.

Air Force Says Moon Could Be Hit This Year

WASHINGTON — The Air Force has told Congress that for an investment of between 16 and 20 million dollars it can successfully impact a payload on the moon, and do it this year.

Maj. Gen. F. A. Bogart, Air Force budget director, made that offer in testifying before a House Military Appropriations subcommittee. The transcript was released Sunday.

Bogart said a 16 to 20 million dollar fund would permit five to seven shots with up to 70 per cent chance of success for each missile firing.

Richard Horner, assistant Air Force secretary for research, added that "We feel we could do this late this fall with a very considerable degree of certainty; we can make a try at it a little bit earlier."

Bogart said the Air Force has submitted the proposal to the Defense Department where it is currently under consideration. Rep. Flood (D-Pa) urged the committee to provide the money forthwith from supplemental funds.

Cuba Acts To Revive U.S. Tourist Trade

HAVANA, Cuba — Cuban businessmen are acting as if Fidel Castro's armed rebellion is over.

They are going ahead with plans to spend millions, if necessary, to recapture the tourist trade from the United States and generally revive business hard hit by revolutionary troubles.

The tide of optimism ran high Sunday. Not a single act of rebel terrorism or shooting was reported anywhere in Cuba—including the insurgents' hot bed of Oriente Province—in the last 48 hours.

Castro faces the most dangerous crisis of his 17-month struggle aimed at overthrowing President Fulgencio Batista. The rebel revolutionary movement has been rocked by defections, continuing desertions and heavy casualties in clashes with government troops.

Indonesia's Gentlemanly War Nears End

JAKARTA, Indonesia. — The end is near in Indonesia's gentlemanly war—a war in which words boomed louder than guns and the casualties probably were fewer than those on U. S. highways on Labor Day.

But when the shooting stops in the mountains of central Sumatra—where the rebels are making at least a show of a last stand—this land of gentle people is in for a new political crisis. And things may not be so polite.

Fighting began 10 weeks ago after a coterie of young army colonels and some politicians proclaimed a new government in Sumatra because they did not like the way Premier Djuanda was treating the money making outer islands. Both sides fought with the niceties reminiscent of the age of chivalry.

No civil war in recent times has been so totally confined to fighting men. Jakarta's army, navy and air force have gone to great lengths to keep the horrors of war from the population of the big spice island of Sumatra.

The rebels have responded—perhaps not entirely by choice—by retreating before Jakarta's legions so that the world has been treated to the further urbanity of a civil war in which not only civilians but soldiers as well were spared.

With the capture of Padang, the rebels' Indian Ocean headquarters, and the overrunning of other major strongholds against little or no resistance, the end of this fight seems only a matter of days away.

With this fact well established, political wheels have begun to move again in this equatorial island nation.

Massachusetts, in 1957, harvested 585,000 barrels of cranberries, most of it from the bogs of the tiny peninsula of Cape Cod.

More Aid Buying In U.S. Called No Recession Cure

WASHINGTON — The administration says forcing more foreign aid purchases in this country would not cure the U.S. economic slump, but instead would promote socialism, cost the taxpayer more and have a very serious impact on American efforts overseas.

Foreign aid chief James H. Smith and C. Douglas Dillon, deputy undersecretary of state, joined before the House Foreign Affairs Committee in strongly opposing any restriction of aid financing to U.S. products.

Some influential congressmen have pressed for a more buy-American approach to the aid program as an anti-recession move. The aid-administering International Cooperation Administration conducted a study of their proposals.

In April 16 closed-session testimony made public Sunday, Dillon said U.S. aid is operated on a free enterprise basis, allowing competitive bids for goods to be supplied aid-receiving countries. He figured foreign low bidders got 450 million dollars worth of orders out of a spending of some four billion dollars in the current fiscal year which ends June 30.

In an industry such as textiles, now hard hit in the United States, Dillon said the American product may cost 25 per cent more than the foreign. Therefore, he said, U.S. taxpayers would be soaked that much more for the equivalent amount of aid under a strict buy-American program.

The dollars earned abroad still come back to the United States in foreign spending for other items, Dillon said. To force aid buying here would merely shift a burden from one industry to another and would in effect be promoting socialism rather than promoting private enterprise, he testified.

SAN FRANCISCO — Billy Graham Sunday opened his crusade in the San Francisco Bay area with an overflow crowd at the Cow Palace.

"Dirtier" Bomb Charge Denied

WASHINGTON — Sen. Clinton Anderson (D-NM) said Sunday the nation's military leaders want dirty bombs and have "pulled bombs out of the stockpile and inserted something that makes them dirtier."

Anderson, ranking member of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee, made the statement on television in discussing a report that there is a long-standing disagreement between the State Department and defense chiefs over the issue of clean versus dirty bombs.

A clean bomb is a device which produces a relatively small or negligible amount of dangerous radioactive fallout.

The Defense Department said later through a spokesman that it "doesn't know what the senator had in mind when he referred to the military encouraging the development of dirtier nuclear weapons."

The spokesman said that he had made a check of department officials and that "no one was aware of any program to make our bombs dirtier."

Father, Two Children Asphyxiated

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio — Inez E. Hesson of Chesapeake, Ohio, was to marry Curtis E. Clark Sr. in a few days. Instead, she was called here Sunday to identify his body.

Clark, 51, lived on Rt. 1, Deposit (Broome County) N. Y. He and his two youngsters, Curtis Jr., 4, and Winfred, 3, were pronounced dead on arrival at Mercy Hospital.

Coroner James Scott tentatively fixed the cause of death as asphyxiation.

A patrolman spotted Clark's parked car and broke a window when he saw the three slumped inside. Highway patrolmen said papers on Clark's body indicated he was en route to Chesapeake to be married.

They believe he pulled off the Youth Admits Killing Rival Gang Leader

Armed 17-Year-Old New Yorker Falls Into Officers' Trap

NEW YORK (AP)—An armed teenage Bronx gang leader was seized Sunday in a police trap. He said he readily admitted the shotgun killing of 17-year-old Michael Ramos.

Ramos was a prosecution witness in the recent murder trial of seven youths for the stabbing of polio-crippled Michael Farmer. But police Inspector John V. Halk said "there is definitely no connection between the (Ramos) death and the Farmer case."

Halk said Ramon Serra, 17, chief of the Egyptian Crowns, admitted shooting Ramos to death with a shotgun in a Bronx candy store Saturday night.

Ramos, a leader of the Kingsmen gang, had boasted of taking over in the Crowns' territory. Halk said. He described the slain youth as a cocky braggart.

Girl Witnessed Shooting

Serra told police "I asked him (Ramos) if he was looking for me and he gave me a bad look. He looked at me from my head to my toes and I shot him."

Serra was captured on a Bronx street as he kept an appointment with a 14-year-old girl friend who was present at the shooting.

Detectives had questioned the girl and then gone to her home. Serra phoned. The girl told him there were no police present and she made the appointment.

Serra had a fully loaded pistol in his belt when police seized him. He struggled and shouted as he was dragged into a police station.

Kicks Photographer's Camera

He kicked a camera from the hands of a photographer and told another: "You're not the Crowns. I don't have to look up to you."

Ramos died almost immediately after the shooting.

"Pee Wee," as Ramos was known, had testified by deposition against Louis Alvarez, 17, one of the defendants in the Farmer trial. He did not appear personally in court.

The Farmer trial ended April 13 with four of the seven youths found guilty—two of second-degree murder and two of second-degree manslaughter. The other three went free.

Alvarez, convicted of second degree murder, was leader of the Washington Heights gang known as the Egyptian Dragons.

Allies Get Draft Of Ike's Answer To Khrushchev

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower Sunday sent to America's NATO allies a draft of his proposed reply to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's latest note on the disarmament stalemate.

The draft was dispatched to the Paris headquarters of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization after the President, spending the week-end at the Augusta National Golf Club, discussed it by telephone with Secretary of State Dulles in Washington.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, told a news conference, he expects the Eisenhower reply to be delivered "very soon" to Khrushchev in Moscow. Indications were it would not be made public by the United States before Monday at the earliest.

Khrushchev last week rejected the President's April 8 proposal that the United States and Russia put technical experts to work to determine what specific nuclear testing controls are necessary if there is to be a dependable and agreed disarmament program.

Cardinal Stritch's Clot-Damaged Arm Will Be Amputated

WILL LOSE ARM—The clot-damaged right arm of Samuel Cardinal Stritch (above), 70, Roman Catholic archbishop of Chicago, will be amputated in Rome today, doctors decided yesterday. The cardinal was stricken aboard ship last week with an unusual thrombosis occlusion below the elbow as he was on his way to Rome to take over new duties as pro-prefect of the Vatican's world-wide mission activities.

Political Angle Of Labor Bill Fight Debated

WASHINGTON (AP)—Armed with an agreement to limit debate, Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said Sunday he hopes for passage by Monday night of a bill requiring public reports on employee pension and welfare funds.

During a Sunday lull in the debate, Democrats and Republicans differed on the political results that will stem from persistent but thus far futile efforts of Republican Leader Knowland of California to broaden the bill with a series of controversial labor control amendments.

"There has been a great deal of politics on both sides," Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.), one of a group of Republicans who voted against all of Knowland's moves, said in an interview.

"I believe it will help some Republicans this fall," Aiken said of the floor battle that started last Thursday. "It certainly will make Sen. Knowland the leader of the conservative forces of the party in California and nationally."

Sen. Magnuson (D-Wash.), in a separate interview, agreed with Aiken that the labor bill fight had a heavy background of politics.

"I believe it will hurt the Republicans," Magnuson said. "Sen. Knowland has been running for governor on the Senate floor and in doing that he's tied up the business of the Senate."

"All of these roll calls and long debate are just shadow boxing," Magnuson said. "Those who honestly favor corrective legislation should be disgusted."

Knowland has been defeated on five straight roll-call votes to amend the bill thus far, but says he will continue the fight.

Key plea of Knowland and the bloc of Republicans backing him has been that unless the Senate approves broad labor legislation now there is slight chance for House action before Congress adjourns.

Two Men Killed, Woman Wounded In Car Ambush

AMBRIDGE, Pa. (AP)—Two men were shot to death and a woman wounded early Sunday in an auto ambush that authorities believe was a case of mistaken identity. The victims were shot down after backing into a driveway on a quiet residential street in the small community of Economy near this western Pennsylvania town. Ambridge is about 25 miles northwest of Pittsburgh.

Killed were William Engle, 44, Ambridge, and Vincent Quigley, 34, who lived just a few doors from the scene of the tragedy. Miss Angelina Pugliano, 33, of Fair Oaks, a friend of Engle, was listed in fair condition at Rochester General Hospital with wounds

Chicago Prelate Faces Surgery In Rome Today

ROME (AP)—Doctors decided Sunday to amputate the clot-damaged right arm of Samuel Cardinal Stritch, 70, Roman Catholic archbishop of Chicago.

A spokesman for Cardinal Stritch announced the surgery is to start at 2 a.m. EST Monday.

Two American and two Italian doctors participated in the discussion which led to the decision that at least part of the arm must come off.

They issued a statement that surgery is indicated and other sources at the Vatican confirmed they meant to amputate.

Cardinal Stritch took the news in good spirits.

"I guess he suspected it all along," said one of a group of American priests who visited the cardinal in his hospital room after he was told of the decision.

"He chatted with us and told us stories about Rome. He looks wonderful. He asked for our prayers."

Cardinal Stritch was stricken aboard ship last week with an unusual thrombosis occlusion below the elbow as he was coming here to take over new duties as pro-prefect of the Vatican's world-wide mission activities.

His hand and lower forearm became lifeless and the skin darkened.

Dr. Pietro Valdoni, an Italian surgeon who saved Italian Communist party leader Palmiro Togliatti after ogliatti was wounded in an assassination attempt in 1948 will perform the operation.

Dr. Valdoni will be assisted by Dr. Filippo Rocchi of the Vatican and Dr. Ralph Bergen and Dr. John Keeley, Americans who flew here from Chicago.

It was understood the doctors hoped to save the upper part of the cardinal's arm. But it was not known definitely whether the amputation would be above or below the elbow.

The Rev. James I. Tucke, chief of the National Catholic Welfare Conference news service in Rome, said after the doctors' announcement was issued that the surgery meant amputation.

Father Tucke said later, however, he was not authorized to say amputation was involved.

Girl Paralyzed By Bullet Fired Through Wall

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—Linda Peer, 11, has been paralyzed from the hips down by a bullet fired accidentally through an apartment wall by a policeman living next door.

The girl underwent a three-hour operation Sunday for removal of the .38 caliber slug from her back.

The surgeon, Dr. Walter Van Ness, was pessimistic about her improvement. He said the bullet injured her spinal column, causing paraplegia.

Linda, a fifth-grade pupil at the Wilson Avenue School, was taking a bath Saturday night.

Patrolman Joseph Thomas was off duty and was unloading his service revolver in the bathroom of his apartment next door.

The weapon went off. The bullet pierced the thin wall just above the bathtub faucets, striking Linda in the left front neck and lodging between the seventh and eighth vertebrae.

Bid To Extend Pacts Readied By Auto Union

Extension Would Be Tied To Price Cut, Idle Benefits

DETROIT (AP)—A sweeping plan whereby the United Auto Workers will offer to extend contracts with the auto industry's Big Three producers for three months in return for a reduction in car prices and added unemployment benefits reportedly will be proposed by the union Monday.

In essence, the union would extend present contracts with General Motors, Ford and Chrysler from the end of next month until Sept. 8 and ask that car prices be dropped an unspecified amount. Supplemental unemployment benefits would be raised from the present 60 to 65 per cent of worker take home pay to 80 per cent.

The plan was reported by the Detroit Times, which said it learned the UAW's executive board devised it last week in secret talks.

Union To Lift News Ban

The union served notice to the three auto companies that it would lift a voluntary news ban on negotiations Monday.

Frank Winn, head of the UAW's press relations department, said the union "can't confirm the report until we offer it to the auto companies Monday. We'll talk about it after they see it." He then amended his statement to "we can't confirm or deny it now."

If auto contracts were extended into September they presumably would run out just as auto makers were about to introduce 1959 models—the busiest time of the year for auto sales and production.

Bargaining Advantage

It would give UAW President Walter Reuther's 1,350,000 auto workers a bargaining advantage as 450,000 workers now are laid off and some observers say a strike now would do little more than help the auto industry cut back production on an already overstocked market.

Chrysler and Ford gave an immediate comment on the report and a General Motors spokesman said "The way it reads I don't think we'd go for it."

Under the reported plan, the union would join with the companies in urging the federal government to eliminate the present excise taxes on cars in a move to snap a slump in auto sales.

Sen. Smathers Outclaims Rival

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Smathers (D-Fla.) outclaimed Sen. Schoeppel (R-Kan.) Sunday in predictions on the outcome of next November's battle for control of the Senate. The two are chairmen of their respective party Senate campaign committees.

Smathers said in the text of a New York speech made available in Washington he is confident the Democrats will win from 7 to 10 additional seats in the 34 contests to be decided. Democrats now outnumber the Republicans 49-47 in the Senate.

Moreover, Smathers got down to cases with a minimum prediction that his party members will upset the GOP hold on seats in New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, California, Maine and West Virginia's two races. He said the Democrats have a good chance of winning also in Arizona, Connecticut and Michigan.

Smathers' speech was prepared for a Democratic National Committee conference. Schoeppel said in an interview he isn't conceding a single one of the states listed by Smathers, even though he said the going is likely to be rougher in some of them than in others.

Schoepel said that if the Republicans hold their lines as he expects them to do in the states named, the GOP would win Senate control by upsetting the opposition in Wisconsin and New Mexico.

Air Drop Of 5,000 Troops Again Delayed

FORT CAMPBELL, Ky. (AP)—Operation Eagle Wing, a practice war involving the 101st Airborne Division, cut off Sunday a scheduled mass drop of nearly 5,000 troops because of unfavorable weather conditions.

Maj. Gen. W. C. Westmoreland, commander of the 101st, said the drop probably would be made Monday morning.

It was the third postponement because of weather since Wednesday when tricky winds killed five paratroopers and injured 158 others by dashing them against rocks and trees.

Suspected of setting 18 car fires in Hollywood within a year, Trevorrah was saved from lynching by neighbors angered when they saw flames destroying a convertible, police officers said.

Nobel Winner Pleads For End To Atom Tests

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Albert Schweitzer demanded Monday an end to nuclear bomb tests for the sake of the yet unborn. He denounced the U.S. effort to make a clean H-bomb as just window-dressing to continue its testing.

No world power, he said, has the right to test nuclear weapons if they are harmful to future generations. Radioactive elements from past tests still hover above the earth only to fall one day in the future, he said. He urged the United States and Britain to follow Russia's announced ban on nuclear testing.

In another worldwide appeal against nuclear weapons, the 1952 Nobel Peace prize winner accused the great powers, the international press and the guardians of international law of belittling the dangers of radioactivity.

Schweitzer's appeal was made in the first of three statements being distributed by the Nobel Institute in Oslo, Norway, to the United States and 79 other countries on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

Asserting that nuclear bomb tests have nothing to do with disarmament, he urged the world's powers to stop testing first, then sit down and talk. The theologian, physician and writer declared:

"There is no time to lose. New tests must not be allowed to increase the already existing danger. It is important to realize that even without new tests the danger will increase during the coming years: A large part of the radioactive elements flung up in the atmosphere and stratosphere at the nuclear experiments is still there. It will come down only after several years—probably about 15."

As for the U. S. clean bomb project, he said:

"The 'clean' hydrogen bomb is intended, I believe, for display case purposes primarily—and not for use. The intention seems to be to convince people that new nuclear tests will be followed by less and less radiation and that there is no real argument for the discontinuation of the tests."

Solo Ocean Hopper Flies To Iceland

PRESTWICK AIRPORT, Scotland (AP)—Peter Gluckmann, San Francisco watchmaker whose hobby is making long solo ocean flights in his little Bonanza plane, flew over the North Atlantic from Prestwick to Iceland Sunday.

He left there shortly before noon. The airport received a message that he had landed in Iceland 6 hours 42 minutes later.

A form he filled at the airport here gave Iceland as his destination and did not indicate where he was going from there. But airport attendants believed he was bound for the United States.

Russ Envoy Is Picketed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russian Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov was picketed Sunday by three men who said they were protesting against his appearance on a television interview program with a panel of college students.

One of the panelists was Edward Kennedy, a brother of Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass.), and a student at the University of Virginia law school. Kennedy commented he found the ambassador "not as direct in his answers as he might have been."

The picketing, outside the Connecticut avenue studios of the American Broadcasting Co., was virtually without incident.

When Menshikov left the studio to enter his chauffeur-driven limousine, one of the pickets, who identified himself to newsmen as Ernest Malinits, a Hungarian mill-worker in Youngstown, Ohio, shouted in Russian:

"You may fool the people here but not the people you have oppressed."

Yugo Reds Set For Tug-Of-War With Kremlin

LJUBLJANA, Yugoslavia (AP)—President Tito and his Communist followers braced Sunday for a long tug-of-war with Nikita Khrushchev.

When the Soviet Premier will take hold of his end of the rope was anybody's guess. But it seemed certain that when he did it would be a mighty tug. For in the past week, Tito and his comrades made it plain to Khrushchev they don't intend to take orders from the Kremlin.

Speakers who emphasized this theme at a five-day Yugoslav Communist party congress were roundly cheered. The attacks on the Kremlin—for butting into Yugoslav affairs—touched off the most critical row between Moscow and Belgrade in four years.

Westerners at the congress felt Tito would like to keep the dispute from getting as bad as the breach with Stalin in 1948. But they also felt Tito would not compromise with Khrushchev. In his final speech Saturday, Tito said he was not optimistic about the future of Soviet-Yugoslav party relations.

For the 66-year-old Tito, the congress was a resounding demonstration of support for his independent communism. He was cheered when he suggested the policy of Russia and the satellites toward Yugoslavia was absurd, shortsighted and tactless.

On the fourth day of the congress, the attacks moderated. Foreign Minister Koca Popovic called on the Kremlin to make peace by agreeing to recognize Yugoslavia's right to follow its own brand of communism at home and nonalignment abroad. Tito followers also insisted on freedom of criticism among Communists.

Circus Acrobat Falls 80 Feet To His Death

PALM SPRING, Calif. (AP)—A circus acrobat lost his life Sunday in a fall before 2,000 spectators.

Trygve Teigen, 34, was doing a balancing act with chairs atop a small platform when he lost his balance and fell 80 feet to the ground. Physicians at Desert Hospital said death was due to head and internal injuries.

Teigen was a member of Rudy Brothers Circus and was assisted in the act by his wife, Gerda. The show was put on outdoors at the Palm Springs Polo Grounds.

Red Scientists To Shoot More Animals Into Space

MOSCOW (AP)—Russia's space dog Laika failed to do a complete job and so Soviet scientists will shoot more animals into space and bring them back dead or alive, Pravda said Sunday.

Laika's living week in Russia's Sputnik II did not provide enough information on space and she gave no definite clues on the effects of cosmic radiation, the Communist party organ said.

"It will be necessary to make a long and careful examination of an animal after the flight to obtain such information," it said. Laika's body was lost when Sputnik II fell from space two weeks ago. But Laika was not written off a space animal back to earth.

Hundreds In Two States Flee Deluge

At Least Three Die In Texas, Arkansas; Disaster Declared

[By The Associated Press] Torrential rains in northeast Texas and southern Arkansas caused at least three deaths, closed highways and forced hundreds of residents from their homes Sunday.

Two communities in Arkansas were designated disaster areas and officials feared another deluge would partly paralyze a broad band in the extreme southern portion of the state.

Elsewhere, an out-of-season mass of cold air chilled much of the nation.

High water and a track washout stranded a Dallas-bound passenger train in Atlanta, Tex. Sewers in El Dorado, Ark., were choked with sand causing more than $100,000 in damage and bringing about a possible health hazard.

Hamburg and Crosssett, Ark., were declared disaster areas by the Red Cross when two creeks overflowed their banks and drove about 150 families from their homes. About a dozen families left Pittsburg, Tex., following 12.5 inches of rain.

At dawn Sunday a freezing line included much of New England from the Maine coast into western Massachusetts, west through New York and all but the southern shores of the Great Lakes on west into the Upper Mississippi Valley. Newport, Vt., reported a chilly 21 degrees, Concord, N.H., 25 degrees and Binghamton, N.Y., 30. It was 18 degrees at Pellston, Mich., and 30 at Alexandria, Minn.

Heavy snow fell in southwestern Montana Sunday and through the high elevations into Wyoming. Butte, Mont., after almost continuous snow for 24 hours reported 11 inches. Whitehall, Mont., reported nine inches. At West Yellowstone Park, Wyo., where the temperature was 22 degrees, the snow measured 15 inches.

Cancer Rare In Non-Smoking Adventist Men

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Non-smoking, teetotaling Seventh Day Adventist men have only one-tenth as much lung cancer in their ranks as the general male population, two medical investigators asserted Sunday.

The Adventists are similarly free of cancer of the mouth, throat and windpipe, and have only a little more than half as much heart disease as other men, the researchers said.

And they assertedly have produced evidence that smog is not a major factor in the origin of lung malignancy.

These findings were reported in a paper before the California Medical Assn. by Dr. Ernest L. Wynder, of the Sloan-Kettering Institute, New York City, and Dr. Frank R. Lemon of the College of Medical Evangelists.

Dr. Wynder, a leading proponent of the theory that smoking is a great promoter of lung cancer, and Dr. Lemon, an Adventist, drew their conclusions from a study of 8,692 patients with cancer or heart disease in eight Adventist hospitals. Dr. Wynder is a non-Adventist.

There were 564 Adventists in this group. The other 8,128 were non-Adventists of corresponding age groups.

Nixons En Route To South America

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President and Mrs. Richard Nixon left Sunday on their fifth good will mission—a visit to South America.

The 18-day trip was built around the inauguration May 1 of President Arturo Frondizi of Argentina. Nixon was chosen to head the U.S. delegation because Argentina, a major nation, will get its first democratic government in years and because the Washington government has a high regard for Gen. Pedro Aramburu, who led the country back to democracy.

Economic problems in Argentina, many of them inherited from the more than 10 years of dictatorship of Juan Peron, and in seven other nations—Uruguay, Paraguay, Bolivia, Peru, Ecuador, Colombia and Venezuela—are to get Nixon's attention.

French Kill 215 Rebels

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP)—The French army claimed Sunday its patrols killed 215 nationalist rebels.

Devereux Charges Democrats Use Recession For Political Expedience

ANNAPOLIS — Rep. Devereux (R-Md.) accuses the Democrats of using the recession for political expedience and says the record should be set straight with plain, honest facts.

The congressman, unopposed for the GOP gubernatorial nomination, spoke at a banquet Saturday night which climaxed a strategy meeting of young Republicans from three states and the District of Columbia.

Devereux contended the Republican administration in Washington has fought the economic dip through stepped-up defense contracts, the expanded highway program, reduced down payments on Maryland and the District attend-

FHA housing and elimination of the meeting, which concerned down payments on GI housing. He also said the government had granted contracts to areas with unusually large labor surpluses and had given more contracts to small business.

He said the Democrats had panicked when the Russians shot up two satellites before the United States performed a successful launching. But "cool deliberation" had paid off, Devereux said. "We now have three satellites in space and the shrill hysterical cries have been quieted somewhat."

Some 50 young GOP leaders from Virginia, West Virginia, New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware and the District of Columbia.

Demo Club Director

WASHINGTON — Roy A. Schafer of Pittsburgh, has been named regional director of the young Democratic clubs of America for New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware and the District of Columbia.

Woman Held In Fatal Stabbing

WASHINGTON — A woman identified by police as Mrs. Onie Mullis, 25, Arlington, Va., was held Sunday in connection with the fatal stabbing of a 30-year-old Washington woman.

Capt. Lawrence Hartnett, chief of the Washington homicide squad identified the victim as Miss Kathryn Joyce. Mrs. Mullis' husband, John, 29, was stabbed in the chest and right leg. His condition was termed satisfactory.

Mrs. Mullis, mother of an 8-year-old daughter, was charged with homicide in an early morning arraignment before Municipal Judge Edward A. Beard. He continued her case until Wednesday because she was without counsel. He ordered her held without bond.

Hartnett said Mrs. Mullis admitted all details of the stabbing, performed with a long bladed Japanese stiletto. Hartnett quoted Mrs. Mullis as saying her husband had been going with Miss Joyce since February.

The police officer said the fatal altercation took place Saturday night in front of Miss Joyce's home in Southeast Washington.

Tavern Argument Erupts Into Gunplay

FEDERALSBURG, Md. — Three men were hospitalized with bullet wounds and a fourth was in jail Sunday as a result of a tavern argument which erupted into gunplay.

State Police Lt. C. C. Serman identified the wounded men as Eugene Bennett, 35, Alec Cornish, 47, and Cecil Washington, 20, all Federalburg Negroes.

Bennett was reported in serious condition with chest wounds at Peninsula General Hospital in Salisbury. The others were hospitalized at Easton, but neither was said to have been as seriously wounded as Bennett.

Serman said Leon James Sample, 33-year-old Federalburg Negro, was arrested after the shooting Saturday night and was jailed at Denton on a charge of assault with intent to kill.

In New Zealand is a valley of pools of boiling mud, hot springs and sulphur fumes known as "The Valley of Tiktire." It has a sidename: "The Inferno."

Missing Sailors Paddle To Shore

EDGEWOOD, Md. — Two young sailors who had been the object of a Coast Guard and State police search powered their way ashore with a single oar early Sunday, eight hours overdue.

Sidney A. Trine, 22, and Marlin Evans, 14, both of Towson, told anxious relatives their 12-foot motor boat had become disabled.

They had left Bateman's Landing about noon Saturday for a ride on the Bush River and Chesapeake Bay.

State police said the youngsters came ashore near the Pennsylvania Railroad bridge across the river, about one mile north of Edgewood. Both were reported in good condition.

Middle River Fire

BALTIMORE — A tailor shop was gutted and an adjacent drugstore was damaged early Sunday by a fire in a shopping district at nearby Middle River, Md.

Firemen from Essex, Edgemere and Dundalk helped fight the flames. No injuries were reported in the blaze, the cause of which was not immediately determined. There was no estimate of damage.

VFW Leader Blasts Invitation To Soviets

BALTIMORE — The Maryland commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars has criticized the invitation extended to five Russian war veterans to visit the United States.

The invitation was extended by the American Veterans of the Elbe Line-up.

"To recognize this Soviet delegation as anything more than an official delegation from the Kremlin would be ridiculously naive," said Maryland VFW chief Weldon Leroy Maddox.

"Since the inception of the Soviet Veterans Committee, the group has done nothing but parrot the flossy phrases of the Communist world," he added.

"They talk of peace and humanitarian principles on one hand, and on the other hand violate all principles of humanity by such ruthless actions as the slaughter of helpless Hungarians during that country's internal revolt."

Merger Hearings Set

WASHINGTON — The House Military Operations subcommittee announced Sunday a week of hearings starting Wednesday on President Eisenhower's plan to merge the Federal Civil Defense Administration and the Office of Defense Mobilization.

Oil Firm's Appeal Turned Down By FTC

WASHINGTON — The Federal Trade Commission Sunday ordered Royal Oil Corp., Baltimore, to stop misrepresenting that its reclaimed motor oil is a new product.

The FTC, in denying an appeal by the company, adopted with modification a recommendation by a hearing examiner. The examiner, Joseph Callaway, held that the company's containers falsely implied the product is made from new and unused oil.

Callaway recommended, and the FTC upheld, that the company be required to clearly disclose on containers that the product has been manufactured from previously used oil. It also ordered that such information appear in any future advertising and promotional material.

Wind, Rough Water Hamper River Hunt For Missing Three

COLES POINT, Va. — High winds and rough water forced searchers to temporarily abandon their hunt today for a missing boat with three persons leared dead in a Potomac River accident.

Air Force Says Moon Could Be Hit This Year

WASHINGTON — The Air Force has told Congress that for an investment of between 16 and 30 million dollars it can successfully impact a payload on the moon, and do it this year.

Maj. Gen. F. A. Bogart, Air Force budget director, made that offer in testifying before a House Military Appropriations Subcommittee. The transcript was released Sunday.

Bogart said a 16 to 20 million dollar fund would permit five to seven shots with up to 70 per cent chance of success for each missile firing.

Richard Horner, assistant Air Force secretary for research, added that "We feel we could do this late this fall with a very considerable degree of certainty; we can make a try at it a little bit earlier."

Bogart said the Air Force has submitted the proposal to the Defense Department where it is currently under consideration. Rep. Flood (D-Pa.) urged the committee to provide the money forthwith from supplemental funds.

Cuba Acts To Revive U.S. Tourist Trade

HAVANA, Cuba — Cuban businessmen are acting as if Fidel Castro's armed rebellion is over.

They are going ahead with plans to spend millions, if necessary, to recapture the tourist trade from the United States and generally revive business hard hit by revolutionary troubles.

The tide of optimism ran high Sunday. Not a single act of rebel terrorism or shooting was reported anywhere in Cuba—including the insurgents' hot bed of Oriente Province—in the last 48 hours.

Castro faces the most dangerous crisis of his 17-month struggle aimed at overthrowing President Fulgencio Batista. The rebel revolutionary movement has been rocked by defections, continuing desertions and heavy casualties in clashes with government troops.

Indonesia's Gentlemanly War Nears End

JAKARTA, Indonesia. — The end is near in Indonesia's gentlemanly war—a war in which words boomed louder than guns and the casualties probably were fewer than those on U. S. highways on Labor Day.

But when the shooting stops in the mountains of central Sumatra—where the rebels are making at least a show of a last stand—this land of gentle people is in for a new political crisis. And things may not be so polite.

Fighting began 10 weeks ago after a coterie of young army colonels and some politicians proclaimed a new government in Sumatra because they did not like the way Premier Djuanda was treating the money making outer islands. Both sides fought with the niceties reminiscent of the age of chivalry.

No civil war in recent times has been so totally confined to fighting men. Jakarta's army, navy and air force have gone to great lengths to keep the horrors of war from the population of the big spice island of Sumatra.

The rebels have responded—perhaps not entirely by choice—by retreating before Jakarta's legions so that the world has been treated to the further urbanity of a civil war in which not only civilians but soldiers as well were spared.

With the capture of Padang, the rebels' Indian Ocean headquarters, and the overrunning of other major strongholds against little or no resistance, the end of this fight seems only a matter of days away.

With this fact well established, political wheels have begun to move again in this equatorial island nation.

Massachusetts, in 1957, harvested 585,000 barrels of cranberries, most of it from the bogs of the tiny peninsula of Cape Cod.

More Aid Buying In U.S. Called No Recession Cure

WASHINGTON — The administration says forcing more foreign aid purchases in this country would not cure the U. S. economic slump, but instead would promote socialism, cost the taxpayer more and have a very serious impact on American efforts overseas.

Foreign aid chief James H. Smith and C. Douglas Dillon, deputy undersecretary of state, joined before the House Foreign Affairs Committee in strongly opposing any restriction of aid financing to U. S. products.

Some influential congressmen have pressed for a more buy-American approach to the aid program as an anti-recession move. The aid-administering International Cooperation Administration conducted a study of their proposals.

In April 16 closed-session testimony made public Sunday, Dillon said U. S. aid is operated on a free enterprise basis, allowing competitive bids for goods to be supplied aid-receiving countries. He figured foreign low bidders got 450 million dollars worth of orders out of a spending of some four billion dollars in the current fiscal year which ends June 30.

In an industry such as textiles, now hard hit in the United States, Dillon said the American product may cost 25 per cent more than the foreign. Therefore, he said, U. S. taxpayers would be soaked that much more for the equivalent amount of aid under a strict buy-American program.

The dollars earned abroad still come back to the United States in foreign spending for other items, Dillon said. To force aid buying here would merely shift a burden from one industry to another and would in effect be promoting socialism rather than promoting private enterprise, he testified.

"Dirtier" Bomb Charge Denied

WASHINGTON — Sen. Clinton Anderson (D-NM) said Sunday the nation's military leaders want dirty bombs and have "pulled bombs out of the stockpile and inserted something that makes them dirtier."

Anderson, ranking member of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee, made the statement on television in discussing a report that there is a long-standing disagreement between the State Department and defense chiefs over the issue of clean versus dirty bombs.

A clean bomb is a device which produces a relatively small or negligible amount of dangerous radioactive fallout.

The Defense Department said later through a spokesman that it "doesn't know what the senator had in mind when he referred to the military encouraging the development of dirtier nuclear weapons."

The spokesman said that he had made a check of department officials and that "no one was aware of any program to make our bombs dirtier."

Father, Two Children Asphyxiated

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio. — Inez E. Hesson of Chesapeake, Ohio, was to marry Curtis E. Clark Sr. in a few days. Instead, she was called here Sunday to identify his body.

Clark, 51, lived on Rt. 1, Deposit (Broome County) N. Y. He and his two youngsters, Curtis Jr., 4, and Winfred, 3, were pronounced dead on arrival at Mercy Hospital.

Coroner James Scott tentatively fixed the cause of death as asphyxiation.

A patrolman spotted Clark's parked car and broke a window when he saw the three slumped inside. Highway patrolmen said papers on Clark's body indicated he was en route to Chesapeake to be married.

They believe he pulled off the highway about six miles west of E. Hesson of Chesapeake, Ohio, to rest.

Four Building Permits Issued

A number of building permits have been issued at the Allegany County Assessing Department office in the Court House.

James R. Thrasher, of RD 1, Frostburg, in District 18, was issued a permit to build a dwelling at an estimated cost of $8,000. The 30-by-40-foot home will have a concrete block foundation, stone walls and composition shingle roof.

Vernon K. Smith, of Thurnel Drive, RD 3, city, in District 23, was granted a permit to build a frame dwelling at a cost of about $7,500. It will have a cellar, and the foundation will be of concrete block. A composition shingle roof will be used. The home will measure 65 feet by 24 feet.

A Westernport resident, Russell W. Blubaugh, of District 8, plans to build a brick veneer six-room dwelling with bath at a cost of about $6,000. The 28-by-36-foot structure will have a concrete block foundation and composition roof.

John G. Buckley, 1262 National Highway in District 29, operator of the Slumberland Motel, plans to convert three garages into motel units at a cost of about $3,000.

Long Attacks

Bruce told the audience of Young Democrats that the Senate candidates should stick to the issues and not engage in personalities.

Then he directed his attack on a much larger target, the Republican administration in Washington.

The former ambassador blamed the GOP for what he called its vacillation on the farm program. As Mahoney had done earlier last week, Bruce advocated raising the personal U. S. income tax exemption from $600 to $750 or $800, which he said would prime the economic pump a bit in this time of recession.

Young Republicans Meet
Clarence D. Long described himself as "a man who knows economic medicine in the councils of government."

The nation needs a man of his experience, said the Johns Hopkins University economics professor who has served as an economics adviser to Democratic and Republican administrations.

A group of young GOP leaders from Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia and the District of Columbia huddled at Annapolis Saturday for a campaign strategy session. Among the speakers were Rep. Devereux, unopposed as the Republican gubernatorial nominee, and Gov. McKeldin.

Devereux Charges Democrats Use Recession For Political Expedience

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Rep. Devereux (R-Md) accuses the Democrats of using the recession for political expedience and says the record should be set straight with plain, honest facts.

The congressman, unopposed for the GOP gubernatorial nomination, spoke at a banquet Saturday night which climaxed a strategy meeting of young Republicans from three states and the District of Columbia.

Devereux contended the Republican administration in Washington has fought the economic dip through stepped-up defense contracts, the expanded highway program, reduced down payments on FHA housing and elimination of down payments on GI housing. He also said the government had granted contracts to areas with usually large labor surpluses and had given more contracts to small business.

He said the Democrats had panicked when the Russians shot up two satellites before the United States performed a successful launching. But "cool deliberation" had paid off, Devereux said. "We now have three satellites in space and the shrill hysterical cries have been quieted somewhat."

Some 50 young GOP leaders from Virginia, West Virginia, New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware and the District of Columbia attended the meeting, which concentrated on strategy in this election year.

Other speakers included Gov. McKeldin and William B. Pendergast, former professor at the Naval Academy who is with the GOP National Committee in Washington.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Roy A. Schafer of Pittsburgh, has been named regional director of the young Democratic clubs of America for New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware and the District of Columbia.

Woman Held In Fatal Stabbing

WASHINGTON (AP) — A woman identified by police as Mrs. Onie Mullis, 25, Arlington, Va., was held Sunday in connection with the fatal stabbing of a 30-year-old Washington woman.

Capt. Lawrence Hartnett, chief of the Washington homicide squad identified the victim as Miss Kathryn Joyce, Mrs. Mullis' husband, John, 29, was stabbed in the chest and right leg. His condition was termed satisfactory.

Mrs. Mullis, mother of an 8-year-old daughter, was charged with homicide in an early morning arraignment before Municipal Judge Edward A. Beard. He continued her case until Wednesday because she was without counsel. He ordered her held without bond.

Hartnett said Mrs. Mullis admitted all details of the stabbing, performed with a long bladed Japanese stiletto. Hartnett quoted Mrs. Mullis as saying her husband had been going with Miss Joyce since February.

The police officer said the fatal altercation took place Saturday night in front of Miss Joyce's home in Southeast Washington.

Tavern Argument Erupts Into Gunplay

FEDERALSBURG, Md. (AP) — Three men were hospitalized with bullet wounds and a fourth was in jail Sunday as a result of a tavern argument which erupted into gunplay.

State Police Lt. C. C. Serman identified the wounded men as Eugene Bennett, 35, Alec Cornish, 47, and Cecil Washington, 20, all Federalburg Negroes.

Bennett was reported in serious condition with chest wounds at Peninsula General Hospital in Salisbury. The others were hospitalized at Easton, but neither was said to have been as seriously wounded as Bennett.

Serman said Leon James Sample, 33-year-old Federalburg Negro, was arrested after the shooting Saturday night and was jailed at Denton on a charge of assault with intent to kill.

In New Zealand is a valley of pools of boiling mud, hot springs and sulphur fumes known as "The Valley of Tikiere." It has a sidename: "The Inferno."

Missing Sailors Paddle To Shore

EDGEWOOD, Md. (AP) — Two young sailors who had been the object of a Coast Guard and State police search powered their way ashore with a single oar early Sunday, eight hours overdue.

Sidney A. Trine, 22, and Martin Evans, 14, both of Towson, told anxious relatives their 12-foot motor boat had become disabled.

They had left Bateman's Landing about noon Saturday for a ride on the Bush River and Chesapeake Bay.

State police said the youngsters came ashore near the Pennsylvania Railroad bridge across the river, about one mile north of Edgewood. Both were reported in good condition.

Middle River Fire

BALTIMORE (AP) — A tailor shop was gutted and an adjacent fire store was damaged early Sunday by a fire in a shopping district at nearby Middle River, Md.

Firemen from Essex, Edgemere and Dundalk helped fight the flames. No injuries were reported in the blaze, the cause of which was not immediately determined. There was no estimate of damage.

VFW Leader Blasts Invitation To Soviets

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Maryland commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars has criticized the invitation extended to five Russian war veterans to visit the United States.

The invitation was extended by the American Veterans of the Elbe Line-up.

"To recognize this Soviet delegation as anything more than an official delegation from the Kremlin would be ridiculously naive," said Maryland VFW chief Weldon Leroy Maddox.

"Since the inception of the Soviet Veterans Committee, the group has done nothing but parrot the flossy phrases of the Communist world," he added.

"They talk of peace and humanitarian principles on one hand, and on the other hand violate all principles of humanity by such ruthless actions as the slaughter of helpless Hungarians during that country's internal revolt."

Merger Hearings Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Military Operations subcommittee announced Sunday a week of hearings starting Wednesday on President Eisenhower's plan to merge the Federal Civil Defense Administration and the Office of Defense Mobilization.

Oil Firm's Appeal Turned Down By FTC

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission Sunday ordered Royal Oil Corp., Baltimore, to stop misrepresenting that its reclaimed motor oil is a new product.

The FTC, in denying an appeal by the company, adopted with modification a recommendation by a hearing examiner. The examiner, Joseph Callaway, held that the company's containers falsely implied the product is made from new and unused oil.

Callaway recommended, and the FTC upheld, that the company be required to clearly disclose on containers that the product has been manufactured from previously used oil. It also ordered that such information appear in any future advertising and promotional material.

Formosa Stands Guard

On Quemoy, a scant 1½ miles from Chinese mainland, a Nationalist soldier watches the movements of Communist troops through his periscope-binoculars.

Crew member gives American-built jet fighter a going-over with cloth and polish. Like rest of planes in squadron, jet has dragon's teeth insignia.

Formosa has been likened to an anchored aircraft carrier. On it the Chinese Nationalists maintain a modern military force of some 640,000 men. The United States assigns no combat troops to the island, but provides arms, ships, aircraft and advisers.

The forces on Formosa (Taiwan) are kept in a state of constant readiness. There is literally no end to drills, maneuvers, and bivouacs. All over the island, the men are training in the uplands or digging in along the coast. Planes fly overhead. Ships patrol the coast.

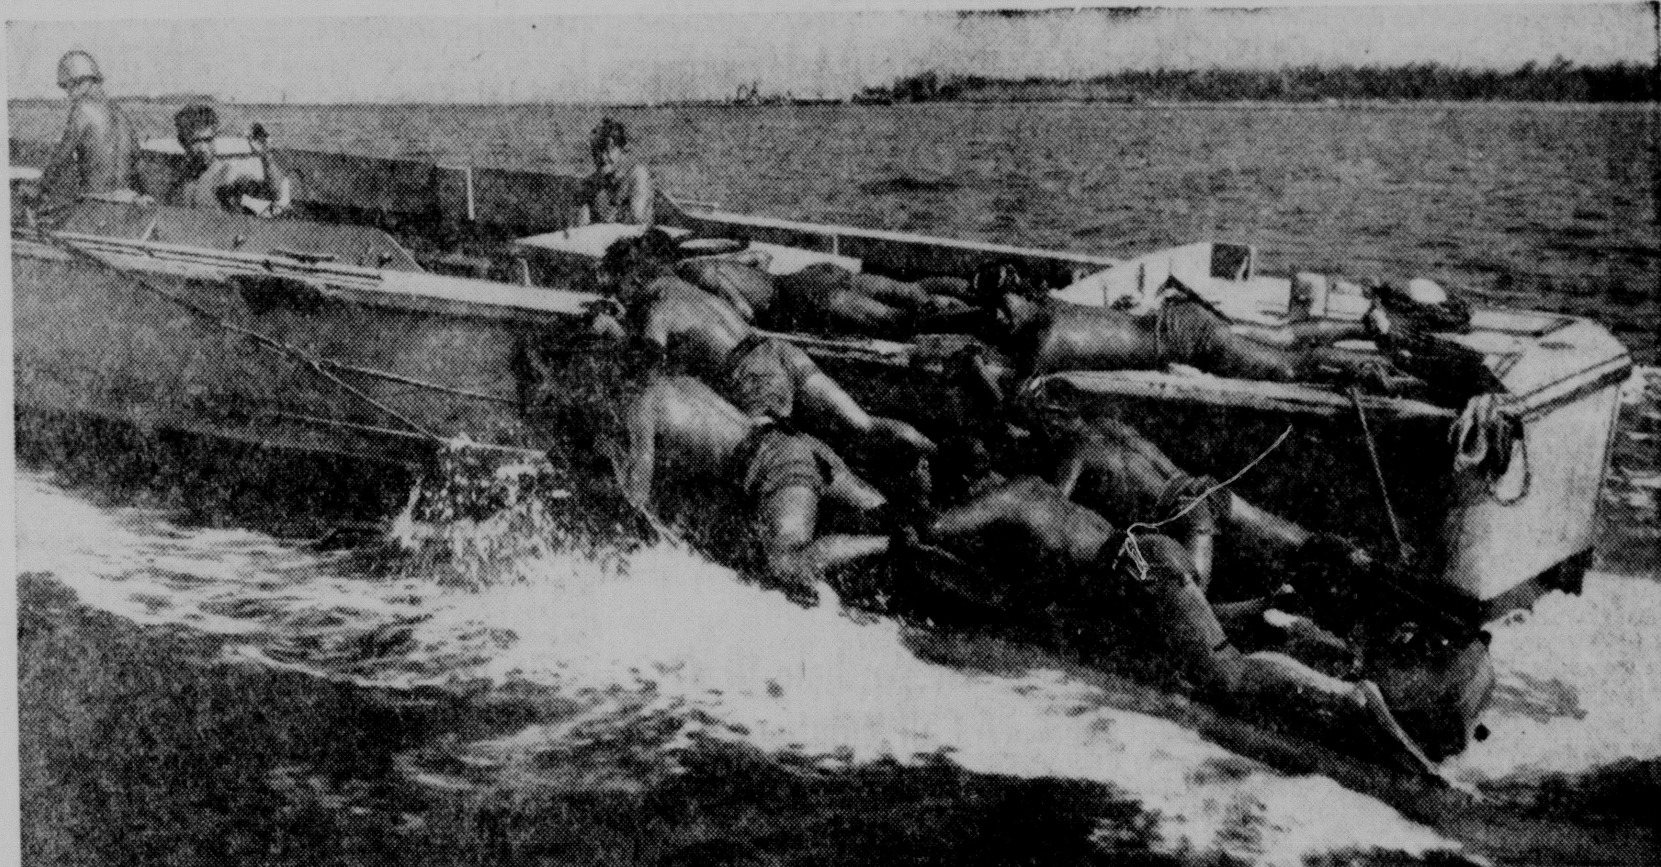

Above all looms the figure of Chiang Kai-shek, who brought with him his defeated armies and some 2 million Chinese when he fled the Reds in the dark days of 1949. The aging generalissimo vows he'll return to the mainland. The men under him feel likewise. "We're at the peak now," he said recently when asked about his troops.

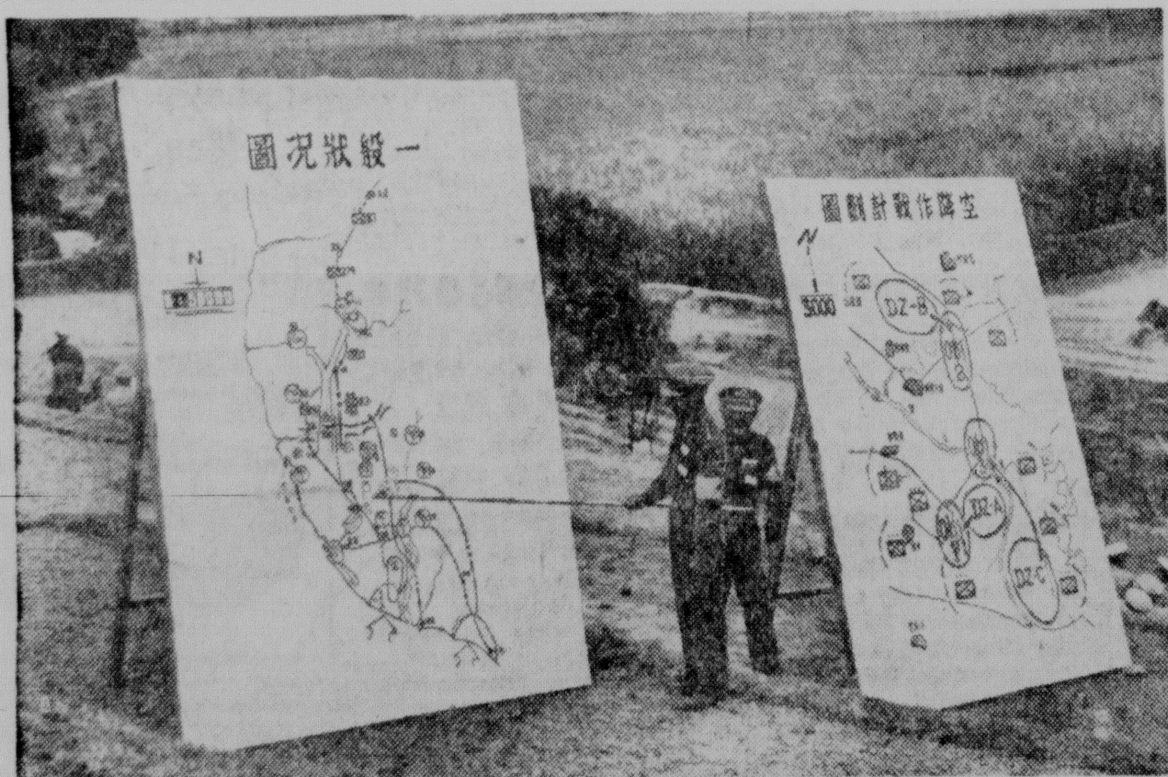

Crew of radar-operated anti-aircraft gun keeps sharp lookout for Communist planes.

Formosan farmer pulls his ancient cart and bullock to one side as heavy tanks of the Free China ground forces come rumbling down road during maneuvers.

Frogmen cling close to their rubber dinghy as it is hauled by a larger landing craft to within paddling range of their objective during test in Formosa Strait.

Nationalist officers study enlarged plans of maneuvers set up on hillside.

Wrapped in netting and wearing hat as protection against sun, infantryman aims gun during maneuvers.

Counter Challenges To Buyer Resistance

Consumer resistance to higher prices is resulting in some counter-challenges by firms involved.

The general manager of the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies made a speech in San Francisco in which he declared it was time for the automobile insurance companies to "be bold" in revealing why insurance rates had to go higher.

The speaker, J. Dewey Dorsett, said that while public resistance to rising prices is "understandable," it was resulting in a creeping tide of rejections by state supervisory authorities of filings for insurance rate increases. This could be ruinous for the insurance companies, Mr. Dorsett declared.

Mr. Dorsett said that while insurance rates have been increased, stock casualty companies have not been making excessive profits. In fact, since World War II automobile liability insurance has produced an underwriting loss.

The reason? Too many accidents; inflation driving auto repair costs up, physicians' fees up, and higher hospital rates. High jury verdicts and taxes also are involved.

The insurance companies may have a valid case. But the point of detailing this recital is that it will probably be the pattern followed by many other groups faced with consumer resistance. In fact, it is probably one reason why prices will continue climbing despite the recession, making the boom that will follow all the more inflationary.

Prices and costs of services all seem tangled in a web. And its direction, unfortunately for the consumer, seems ever upward.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Railroad Problem

The President's proposal to aid the railroads by a $700,000,000 loan, with certain other alleviations of their difficulties, is, of course, a makeshift, emergency solution to a pressing problem. The railroads have been kept in such a non-competitive bondage by the Interstate Commerce Commission that they are today, so far as passenger services are concerned, outpriced in competition with airplanes, busses, private automobiles, etc. Because wages and prices on the railroads are absolutely controlled, as are all the terms of employment and the methods of operations, no railroad in the United States has been able to operate on a business basis, certainly since World War I when the government took over the railroads. In a word, the railroads have not been free to meet progress and they show it. True, they have substituted the diesel for the locomotive, but that has not solved any great fundamental problem.

The air-services usually enjoy terminal facilities which are paid for out of public funds. On the other hand, the railroads have to maintain all their facilities at their own expense. It is true that many railroads received enormous concessions when they were started, but that was long ago and does not affect the present situation at all. A railroad has to maintain a costly right-of-way, a more costly road-bed. The air-lines fly in the free heavens and the protective services (beams, etc.) are maintained by the government of the United States out of taxes. Busses and trucks use public roads, paid for by the taxpayer and maintained and kept in repair by the taxpayer. These advantages have grown up as new means of transportation developed and no important steps have been taken to permit the railroads to keep themselves in a competitive position. In fact, the Interstate Commerce Commission, which was established to keep the railroads competitive, has actually served to make them non-competitive and bureaucratic. A new idea usually finds desert soil in this enterprise because so many authorities have to be consulted and it takes them so long to reach a decision.

The railroads are still valuable in war-time; they are absolutely essential for the mass movements of men and materials and could not be abandoned on the assumption that the alternate means of communications will serve. Air-lines and busses must, in any emergency, remain auxiliary services. In war, only the railroad can serve to move the heavy equipment required by the new-type unconventional weapons.

Therefore what is most needed is an over-all study of the entire transportation system of the nation by some capable body such as Herbert Hoover developed in his various task forces. The object would be to analyze the position as it is today; to equate values; to produce more equity among the different means of transportation; to make public inequities in taxation and offer some solution concerning them; to disclose hidden as well as public subsidies for all transportation services; and, on the whole, to make sure that our means of moving human beings and goods are not antiquated and obsolescent and bound by red-tape and senility.

On a recent train trip from New York, to Miami Beach and back, our train consisted of cars of varying vintages, so that passengers, paying the same fare, enjoyed unequal facilities. This is absurd in any business. I rode in a Rock Island Pullman which the Florida East Coast Railway had not bothered to paint over to look like its own equipment. Returning to New York, we came in more than two hours late, although the weather was excellent; there had been no accident on the road and no reason, other than very bad railroad practices and poor servicing of the diesels between trips. Also, so many trains are taken off or combined with other trains, that the diesels pull too heavy a load.

If the railroads wish to give up First Class travel, they should make an announcement to that effect. Otherwise they are accepting additional fare without providing customary additional services. When the important crack-trains are brought low, we shall know that the railroads really prefer to abandon passenger service altogether; yet passenger service is an essential railroad task.

All this needs to be studied, impartially, with a view toward restoring the primary means of transportation of the country.

Talking Ourselves Into It

Story Of Year Unfolds Right Now In Congress

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—The story of the year is being unfolded right now in Congress.

It's the story of how labor-union money — contributed heavily in recent political campaigns — keeps a majority of members of Congress from enacting laws that would do away with the rackets whereby the dues of the workmen are stolen or misused.

It's the story also of how Congress, though knowing full well how boycotts of innocent parties are used to further the aims of labor unions, does nothing by way of legislation to correct the abuses.

It's the story of how goons and hired thugs intimidate American citizens who venture to assert their right to work and to cross picket lines.

Plenty of outrages are heard when "civil rights" are denied in other fields of constitutional law, but no such support is given the simple proposition that the American citizen must be free to join or not to join a union and, if he declines, that he must not for such reason alone be deprived of his job.

Today, in certain trades, a citizen cannot earn a livelihood unless he consents to become, against his will, a member of a labor union which can use his dues money to finance the election of candidates for public office with whose views the worker happens not to agree. Here is "thought control" and a denial of the basic principals embodied in the Constitution itself.

Today to cross a picket line is a big strike is to jeopardize one's life. Local police authorities are intimidated by the political power of labor unions and do not give adequate protection to the citizen.

Pepping Up A Too-Easygoing Thyroid Gland

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Few diseases are easier to treat than a sluggish thyroid (hypothyroidism). Dramatic changes take place in the appearance, personality, and sense of well-being when the victim takes a tablet or two of thyroid extract daily.

On the other hand, the condition often is overlooked, especially when the manifestations are vague. Persons with disturbances due to hypothyroidism have been dubbed neurotics. In the middle-aged women, the menopause frequently is blamed for all complaints. In addition, many manifestations are not recognized by the individual until they are brought to his attention.

A poorly functioning thyroid must be considered whenever a person is tired all the time and finds it difficult to keep warm

zen. Companies that are not parties to a strike are sometimes boycotted if they buy materials or goods from a company that is having a labor dispute.

Financial irregularities have been disclosed in about five major unions. Many of the other big unions have not been investigated as yet. Senator McClellan of Arkansas, Democrat, has thrown the searchlight on the misuse of union funds. The newspapers have been printing articles about it for several months.

Now, however, the time has come for action. But it looks as if a majority in Congress is itself intimidated. Privately, many members say they would like to go ahead, but the Democratic party—which is more beholden to the labor unions than are the Republicans—doesn't want to put the legislation through this year because it fears that individual members might be hurt in the coming congressional elections.

The plan all along has been to bury the legislation in committee in the Senate. There was to be no voting on broad aspects of the labor-union problem. But Senator William Knowland of California, Republican leader, took the bit in his teeth this week and decided to try for roll-call votes which would make every member answer to all the people and not just to the labor-union lobbies.

At first it was reported that there wouldn't be a chance for

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

It has been our argument that no politician is safe and sound who can open one without the other.

There's been a bit of that up-state financing recently in our neck-of-the-woods. There would be no honesty in office if the ghost at the feast haunted the ice-box too.

There should always be a Democrat hound-dogging the Republicans and twice-as-versa. A bell on the cash register may not keep 'em honest. But it sure will make 'em hate music.

Carter Glass was the last good custodian of the fiscal fireworks.

When Carter edited the give-away menu the administration ran on tracks. With no stop-over privileges.

We don't understand finance like Barnabas Baruch. But we have as many slats in our bench as Barney nas. More taxation is climbing a tree in a forest fire.

You have to feed the animals in the winter if you want a circus in the spring.

Barney is correct in one thing. The main fact of life is insurance.

But when you freeze prices you get frost-bitten sales.

W. Va. Congressman Bailey Begins Formal Hearings On School Bill

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Today begin formal hearings before Congressman Cleveland Bailey (D., W. Va.) for a school bill. It does not have the support of the Eisenhower administration, or of the big trucking and gasoline lobbies which rushed through the highway bill, or of the real estate interests that passed a housing bill, or of the banking lobby which blocked an investigation of high interest rates.

If the school bill passes it will be largely the work of the women of the nation, as exemplified by today's lead-off witness, Agnes Meyer, sometimes called "the people's lobbyist."

Fort over 150 years American women have crusaded for better education, beginning with Emma Willard of Troy, N. Y. in 1800, and May Lyon who founded Mount Holyoke College, and Catherine Beecher of Hartford, and Grace Dodge who devoted her life to educating immigrant children, and Ella Flagg Young who became the first woman superintendent of schools in Chicago; to Susan Miller Dorsey, first woman school superintendent in Los Angeles.

In recent years Mrs. Meyer, wife of the chairman of the Washington Post, has made it her job to interview President Eisenhower to urge better education, has talked with Senators, worked with Cabinet members, and today is the first witness in urging passage of the Murray-Metcalf bill which would grant states $25 a year for each school-age student and permit the states to spend the money on better buildings or better teachers' salaries as they wished.

"Knowledge," says Mrs. Meyer, "is the greatest single source of power in the working out of human destiny. Ideas are still the most powerful of all missiles. . . . The cold war has been shifted by the astute leaders in the Kremlin from a competition in physical strength to a competition in brains."

"Whatever nation has the intellectual energy to win the support, respect and sympathy of the world's people, wins the world. Unless Americans take education far more seriously than they have in recent times, they will not long be able to compete with the U.S.S.R. for world leadership."

Neglected Author of Monroe Doctrine

Today is the 200th anniversary of a distinguished Virginian, James Monroe, President of the United States and author of the Monroe Doctrine. For over a year two present-day Virginians, Sen. Harry Byrd of Winchester and Congressman Howard Smith of Alexandria, have been sitting on a resolution they themselves introduced to honor this great founding father.

The Monroe Doctrine has been hailed as the first great proclamation of interdependence between closer relation between the Americas. Monroe also arranged the Louisiana Purchase. Having been instructed to purchase only the city of New Orleans, he exceeded his instructions and acquired the entire territory of Louisiana.

However, no resolution to honor him has been passed by Congress.

Senator Byrd introduced a resolution to honor him, but did little or nothing to pass it. Byrd is a great power in the Senate. When the insurance companies wanted a $124,000,000 tax concession passed before the tax deadline of March 15 this year, Byrd led the fight to give them that concession. It passed last before midnight March 14.

When Senator Byrd's office was queried as to what he had done about the Monroe anniversary resolution, the answer was that it was still in subcommittee, awaiting action.

Congressman Smith is also one of the most powerful members of Congress. As Chairman of the House Rules Committee he can block bills or rush them through in no time. He gave an immediate green light to the $124,000,000 tax bonanza for insurance companies. But when his office was queried about the resolution honoring President Monroe, the answer came: "still in subcommittee."

Today is the 200th anniversary of Monroe's birth. It is late, but not too late to pass the resolution even now.

Women Vs. Meat Packers

The meat-packer lobbyists have wangled an agreement from Sen. Ellender of Louisiana, Chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, to give the opponents of the humane slaughter bill three days to testify against the bill. Those who favor humane slaughter will get only one day. This will put the U.S. Army, the meat packers, and the Farm Bureau on the side of knocking animals in the head with a hammer and will put the Methodist Church, various humane societies, and hundreds of women on the side of using a carbon dioxide tunnel or other humane methods to slaughter animals.

Secretary of the Army Brucker has now lined up with his Cabinet colleague, Secretary of Agriculture Benson, to support the meat packers. He is against a proposed provision that all meat purchased for the Army must be slaughtered by humane methods.

On the other side, the General Board of the Social and Economic Relations of the Methodist Church has just passed a vigorous resolution backing the humane slaughter bill and protesting Congressional delay in acting.

Most important of all, the women are threatening to boycott meat packers who don't adopt humane slaughter.

Note—It was a woman, Rep. Martha Griffiths, Democrat of Michigan, who put the humane slaughter bill through the House.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

The lights dimmed in the grand ballroom. The orange lanterns hanging from the boxes glowed against the blackness. The stage lights in the Waldorf-Astoria went on and now, in the gloom, the faces of 2,000 editors showed up like scattered confetti. This was the annual luncheon of the Bantams for the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

It is not a simple thing. It is a luxury for the palate, the eye and the ear. The editors and publishers had finished eating and the clatter of cups against saucers, the raucous buzz of conversation, were dying. They had partaken of Bisque and Mississippi Crawfish, Beef Bourgeoisie, Nest of Beignet Potatoes, Asparagus Tips Polonaise, Snowball Ice Cream with bitter-sweet chocolate sauce, Petits Fours, and coffee.

Their bellies were full. They puffed on cigars and cigarettes and they watched Bugs Baer come onstage. Mr. Baer is a youthful and buoyant man with a face that looks as though it had been pinched in a launching pad. As Chief Bantam, he kept his part to a minimum and introduced Herbert Hoover Jr. and George Healy Jr., new President of the Newspaper Editors, Henry Cabot Lodge and a few others.

The first act was Mr. Bob Hope, a man who smiles on one side of his face as though he has just done something and is not telling. The editors and publishers gave him the thunder of their hands.

"I did a column for a while," said Mr. Hope. "But I had a tough break. Somebody read it." He talked about President Eisenhower. "I knew like when he was a general and had some power." Like a girl playing a fast game of hopscotch, he skipped to golf and Bing Crosby and Frank Sinatra. "Golf," he said, "is a game for fellows who are too old for girls and still want to get into a trap."

"A few weeks ago, I played Sinatra in Florida. He was wearing a red tie and the caddy kept sticking him back in the hole." Then, on to newspapers. "The newspaper," he said, "is an important facet of American education. How else can anybody find out what's playing on television?" He left to catch a plane. He said that, until two years ago, Mrs. Hope thought he was a pilot. "In closing," he said, "I want to leave you with a solemn thought:

somewhere on a lonely front Elvis is defending us."

He was followed by Mr. Jimmy Durante. Out front, Louis Sobol turned to George Dixon and said: "If this is the act he does at the Copa, it's terrific." It was and it was. Mr. Durante, the man who eviscerates hats and pianos, came out in a bedlam, roaring: "Let me hear that high note!"

When the applause died, he combed what is left on his bald head. "Not much there," he said, "but every strand has a muscle." At one point, he stopped the band. "The trombone player," he said ominously, "is using only one lip." Jimmy had his old and cherished friend, Eddie Jackson, with him. And, as always, Mr. Jackson, fat and aging, did a strut.

When Jimmy departed, Mr. Baer said that the show was not over. The next act would be Robert Preston and the cast of the new hit, "The Music Man." I had seen the show with the Tommy Thompsons of King Features and one of my weaknesses is a good barbershop quartet. Mr. Preston obliged by announcing that the Buffalo Bills would sing Lida Rose while, in musical counterpoint, Miss Barbara Cook would sing "Sweet and Low."

It wrecked me. I would rather see "The Music Man" than to see any other musical ever produced. It is the only show in which the audience hums louder than the cast can sing. The editors applauded so long that the curtain at the Waldorf-Astoria had to be reopened to permit more bows.

At 2:30, Bugs Baer said that the show was over. The lights came up in the Grand Ballroom and the orange lanterns faded in color. John O'Connell, editor of Cosmopolitan Magazine, nodded agreeably. "That was a good one," he said. "Maybe the best show they've had."

The editors filed out in groups to buy back their hats and coats. I looked for Rossman Wyncoop of The Bergen Evening Record, but he had left. In the corridors, the men lingered to talk shop and the polite elevator boys kept saying: "Going down. Going down." This reminded the editors of the state of the nation and some of them walked to the stairs.

They went home a day later to tell their wives how hard they worked.

A physical checkup of the entire police force of a southern city proved that less than 30 per cent have flat feet. Damn!—there goes another time-honored nickname down the drain!

Food containers for space crews will also be edible, it's predicted. Looks like our roving

It's suggested the proposed span between Brooklyn and Staten Island be named the Verazzano bridge. Wonder how that'll sound, pronounced Flat-bush style!

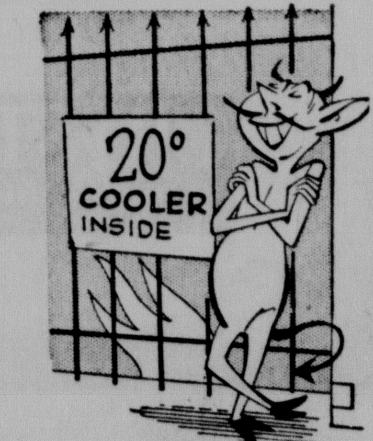

Try And Stop Me

A wealthy gambler knew he was sinking fast. He also had a pretty good idea where he was going. "No use putting any clothes on me when I cash in my checks," he told his wife. "Bury me in my birthday suit, so I'll be as comfortable as possible in the climate down below."

The wife faithfully observed his wishes, but one week to the day after his burial, his ghost seeped through the window, and his hollow voice pleaded, "Darling, give me every suit and heavy overcoat I've left. There's been a big change in Hades. There are so many big shots down there now that the devil has put in air conditioning."

A foreign correspondent, admitted to a satellite country in East-

The only drawback to the PBI test is that results will be distorted if the person has taken iodine within four weeks. The list includes iodinated gargles, ointments, swabs, toothpaste, and suppositories as well as the ingestion of kelp, mineral-vitamin combinations, potassium iodide, Lugol's solution, or related medicines. The iodinated substances used in X-ray studies of the gall bladder and kidneys also make the test unreliable for weeks or months. The use of seafoods or iodinated salt does not have this effect.

HEART TEST

F. L. writes: What is the ballistocardiograph?

REPLY

A machine that tests the capacity of the heart. It is based on the law of physics that for every force in one direction there is an equal force in the opposite direction. When the heart muscle contracts and pushes blood in one direction, there is a force in the opposite direction. As a person lies in bed, the springs move with each heart beat. This movement is imperceptible to the eye but not to the sensitive mechanism of the ballistocardiograph. Many cardiologists believe this machine is a better instrument in detecting early changes in the heart than is the electrocardiograph.

Registration Date Set For Summer Course

FSTC Arranges Six-Week Session

FROSTBURG — Ivan C. Diehl, dean of instruction and coordinator of the graduate program at Frostburg State Teachers College, announced yesterday that advance registration for the six-week summer session for both graduate and undergraduate students will be held Saturday, May 3, from 9:30 a. m. to noon in Rooms 104 and 105 of Old Main.

Summer sessions bulletins listing graduate and undergraduate courses with respective semester hours of credit and faculty members have been distributed. Interested students who have not received bulletins may secure them by writing Dean Diehl.

According to the calendar, halls for resident students will open at 2 p. m. Sunday, June 22. Registration will take place Monday, June 23, in Room 105 of Old Main between 8 and 10 a. m. Classes will begin the same day.

Ends August 1

The final date for late registration will be Tuesday, June 24, at 4 p. m. The college will close Friday, July 4, for Independence Day, but will be in session Saturday, July 12, to make up this time. The summer session will end Friday, August 1.

The maximum period for which any student, graduate or undergraduate, may register is six semester hours. Undergraduates regularly enrolled in the college may not accelerate their programs, but veterans and mature students have the privilege of accelerating.

Members from the regular teaching faculty will serve as instructors and offer courses from the following departments: Education, English, geography, history, mathematics and science.

Graduate students who intend pursuing the Master of Education degree should register for Education 5502: Current Trends in Curriculum, a required course for the degree. As presently planned, one required course for the M. Ed. degree will be offered each summer. Elective courses may be chosen from those bearing a 400 or 500 number. Among these are: Elements of Educational Statistics, Tests and Measurements, Mental Hygiene for Classroom Teachers, Conservation of Natural Resources and Mathematics for General Education.

Tuition Rate Listed

Undergraduate students of junior or senior standing may enroll for courses bearing a 400 number. Others may choose from these: Survey of English Literature, American Literature, History of Europe, Contemporary World Problems, Plant Biology and Physical Science.

For students desiring accommodations on the campus, room and board will be provided at the rate of $60 for the six weeks. This does not include daily lunches and meals on Saturdays and Sundays. From Monday through Friday, luncheon will be served in the college cafeteria at the rate of 35 cents.

Tuition for the summer session, for both state and out-of-state students, will be at the rate of $10 per semester hour of credit.

Program Planned

An art exhibit and film on art will feature the final meeting of the Laboratory School Parent-Teacher Association tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in the Allegany Auditorium of Frostburg State Teachers College.

Exhibits will be held in each classroom from 7:30 until 8 when the meeting will begin, featuring a presentation and film on art by William Stewart, instructor of art at the college.

Following the program, there will be a business session. A report of the nominating committee, election and installation of officers will be held. Refreshments will be served by the hospitality committee at the close of the meeting.

Student Teacher Launches Nutrition Experiment

Carole Shaffer, Miss Sue Silcox, student teacher, and Robert Kelley, are shown here at Mt. Savage School with four white rats used in a successful and important health project. The children of the school's fifth and sixth grades have completed an extensive study of nutrition and its importance to health, energy and general well being. They learned from the experiments that eating proper foods and maintaining a balanced diet helps build strong, healthy, active bodies. In the background are some of the charts and exhibits prepared during the course of study.

Mt. Savage Students Study Nutrition Using White Rats In Resource Project

MT. SAVAGE—A project in nutrition, under the direction of Miss Sue Silcox, practice teacher from Frostburg State Teachers College and Mrs. Helen Caldara, teacher of the fifth and sixth grades at Mt. Savage School, points up some of the modern trends in today's educational program at the elementary grade levels.

According to J. Hubert Radcliffe, principal at Mt. Savage School, this particular project aroused interest and curiosity among the entire student body and has led to more care by the children of "what to eat and what not to eat."

Using live white rats as well as vast amounts of resource materials, a practical approach was made to help the children improve their knowledge about the basic-7 foods.

Miss Silcox explains that classes made charts naming the basic foods, and illustrated the charts with pictures showing examples of these foods. They planned a balanced breakfast, lunch and dinner and then analyzed each meal to see if they included basic foods.

Calories, which provide heat and energy were studied. Calorie charts were obtained and students began to count calories in meals. Each day, the school lunch menu was checked after being written on the blackboard, and calories were counted. The children learned that all basic foods must be eaten to receive the proper supply of vitamins, proteins, carbohydrates, and minerals.

Field Trip To Bakery
The class agreed, Miss Silcox notes, that bread is a basic food, and decided they would like to see how it is made. The youngsters made a supervised tour through Schmidt's Bakery in Cumberland. They saw the complete bread-making process and learned something about the operation of an assembly line and modern manufacture.

Since the unit of study is on a nutritional basis, the children were interested to discover that a vitamin tablet is added to each 100 pounds of dough, to augment the natural vitamins of bread. The trip also served to prove in actual practice some of their findings from research and resource materials.

After acquiring all the knowledge they could from reference materials, books pamphlets, and all other available sources as well as the field trip, the children began conducting a practical experiment of their own.

Used White Rats
From the Maryland Society For Medical Research, Inc., University of Maryland, Miss Silcox and Mrs. Caldara obtained for the classes, four white rats. The children named the little animals Snooky, Ricky, Snowball and Possum.

Each rat was fed an individual diet consisting of bread, milk and water. Two of the rats received a deficient diet and two a healthy diet. The balanced diet included vegetables and cheese.

Each child took his or her turn at caring for the little animals, feeding them, cleaning the cages and making daily entries on

Glenn High Heads Band At Lonaconing

LONACONING — Glenn High has been elected president of Lonaconing City Band.

Felix Foote is elected vice president and assistant director. Gilbert Duckworth will be the director of the band.

Alvin F. Green is treasurer; Miss Rae Ann Eichhorn, secretary; Thomas Powers, business manager.

Librarians elected are Bill Rooney, Gordon Green and Bobby Nolan. Miss Barbara Ann Mowbray is publicity chairman.

An important meeting will be held on Thursday, May 1, at 7:30 p. m. to discuss plans for the playing of a concert on Memorial Day at the Soldiers Monument, Main Street, Lonaconing.

Bridal Shower Honors Miss Meade

MT. SAVAGE — Miss Judy Blank and Miss Joey Sweeney entertained with a surprise bridal shower honoring Miss Mary Meade recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Sweeney.

Miss Meade will become the bride of Donald E. Robeson Saturday, May 3 at 4 p. m. in St. Patrick's Catholic Church, Mt. Savage.

The color scheme was carried out in pink and turquoise. A bride doll featured the center piece. Games were played and prizes were won by Miss Mary Agnes McGann and Miss Catherine Reagan.

The following guests were present: Mrs. Ellis Robeson, Mrs. Walter Meade, Mrs. Catherine Sweeney, Mrs. Grant Crump, Miss Catherine Reagan, Miss Mary Agnes McGann, Miss Leann McGann, Miss Carol Miller, Miss Peggy Carter, Miss Joan Lear, Mrs. Jack Robeson, Mrs. Betty Mulligan, Mrs. William Blank, Miss Sue Sweeney, Miss Carol Ann Meade, Miss Joan Meade, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Blank, Mrs. Robert Robeson, Mrs. George Donius, Mrs. Paul Winfield, Mrs. John Collins, Mrs. Howard King, Mrs. James Kelly and Mrs. Fred Barnard.

Church To Mark Special Events

LONACONING—Feast Day of Saints Philip and James will be celebrated Thursday, May 1, at Holy Communion at 6:15 p. m. in St. Peter's Episcopal Church.

A covered dish supper will follow in the Parish hall.

Members of the Advisory Board decided to hold meetings the last Thursday of the month, the next meeting to be May 29.

Myrtle Temple Marks 56th Anniversary

MIDLAND—Approximately 100 Pythian Sisters and Brother Knights, who are also members of Pythian Temples, attended a Friendship night meeting and the 56th anniversary celebration of Myrtle Temple No. 2, Pythian Sisters held in Red Men's hall.

Mrs. Virginia Blair was presiding officer. Each officer of the local temple had a guest officer from another temple.

The program for Friendship consisted of each officer, introducing their guest and presenting their gifts.

The charter members were also honored with a program and gifts. The Midland Temple was instituted April 15, 1902 by Josie Nelson of Ohio and had 19 charter members.

Robert Hutton Heads Youth Fellowship

PIEDMONT — Robert Hutton of the First Presbyterian Church of Winchester, Va., was elected president of the Senior High Fellowship of Winchester Presbytery. He succeeds Betty Pancale of Romney, W. Va. Approximately 150 Senior High young people from the 63 churches of Winchester Presbytery attended the Rally which was held in the Piedmont Presbyterian Church.

Other officers elected are vice president: Louise Johns of Nineveh; secretary: Betsy Bratton of Berkeley Springs and treasurer: David Kirk of Romney. Rev. Homer T. Cornish, pastor of the Buckton Group of Presbyterian Church in Warren County and Mrs. Robert Gracy Jr., of Charles Town, W. Va. are advisors for this group.

These officers will appoint five Commission chairmen and three district chairmen which will make up council. They will take office after a training session which will be held at the Youth Leadership School at Massanetta Springs near Harrisonburg in June.

Fort Ashby PTA Plans Installation

FORT ASHBY—The Fort Ashby Parent-Teacher Association will hold its regular monthly meeting Thursday at 8 p. m. DST in the new elementary school. S. T. McGee, superintendent of Mineral County Schools, will be the guest speaker. He will also install new officers for next school year.

The new officers include George Chedester, president; Mrs. Rebecca Bowers, vice president; Mrs. Elsie Rosskamp, secretary; and Mrs. Edna Wasson, treasurer.

Mrs. Virginia McCort, outgoing president, will preside at the business session.

Refreshments will be served.

CWO To Meet

Ryan, attorney, to be guest speaker. Mr. Ryan will talk on his trip abroad. Anyone interested may attend and will be welcome. Refreshments will be served.

Tri-Towns Memorial Day Observance Is Announced

WESTERNPORT—The Memorial Day program and parade will be held Friday, May 30. It had been suggested at a previous meeting of the Memorial Day Committee that it be held on Thursday evening, May 29.

At a meeting held at the home of Victory Post 155, American Legion Saturday evening, it was decided the observance be held on May 30 which has been the custom here for many years.

Keyser High Is Host To Area Bands

KEYSER—Keyser High School band was host to seven bands of the 3-A high school district of West Virginia in Keyser Saturday. The bands went through a period before adjudicators from the 3-A district to place the bands in their proper niche in general ability, playing music, marching in parade formation and general all round capability.

Each band had its turn in this examination during the day which included rating, due to population of the schools and other points.

The work was incomplete in a full test as several bands failed to come here for a full examination. The bands appearing here Saturday in addition to Keyser High School, were from Capon Bridge, Harpers Ferry, Musselman, Romney, Martinsburg High and Martinsburg Junior High and Charles Town. In the street parade, the streets were lined solidly by local citizens turning out to see and hear the musicians.

The adjudication of bands of this district is preliminary to the full Regional school band festival to be conducted in Clarksburg on May 1, 2 and 3. Keyser High band is known as a Class B band based on the enrollment.

There were seven or eight high schools not represented here Saturday.

The local high school home room mothers, cafeteria manager and others were on hand to help in entertainment, lunches, etc., for the visiting band members during their stay in Keyser. Nuncio Barbers, the local group's leader, was host for the visiting band directors, players and others accompanying the bands. Faculty members John Shelton and Joseph Stanislawczyk took care of the parking of school buses and other cars.

W. Md. Home Ec Section Meets At Frederick

FROSTBURG — The spring meeting of the Western Maryland Home Economics Section met in the social room of the chapel of Hood College at Frederick recently.

The newly elected officers officiated. They are, Mrs. Noel Gross, president; Mrs. Catherine Muehner, vice chairman, Miss Ethel Groves, secretary; and Mrs. John Dillon, treasurer.

Those attending from Garrett county included: Miss Ethel Groves, county demonstrator, Mrs. Polly Haust, Mrs. John Carter, Mrs. Marla Lawton and Mrs. Betty Randal, teachers at Northern and Southern High Schools. From Allegany County, Mrs. Gladys Eaton, cafeteria supervisor, and Miss Ruth B. Engle, Beall High School.

Luncheon was served in Cottentz Hall. The speaker in the morning was Miss Janet Conzelnt, nutrition specialist, from the University of Maryland. She brought the group up to date on some of the newer nutritional trends and gave a resume of her tour of South America.

Miss Jean J. Harmish, psychiatric social worker, lead a discussion on "Emotional Living in Our Current World."

The next meeting of the group is scheduled to be held in August in Cumberland. At that time a tour through the Celenese will be one of the features.

PSC Announces Summer Session June 10-Aug. 23

Bulletins Are Now Available

KEYSER — Bulletins announcing proposed courses to be offered during the 11-week summer session at Potomac State College, are now available, according to an announcement by Dean K. S. McKee.

During the first term, June 10-July 18, classes will meet five days a week. Classes will be conducted six days a week during the second session, July 22-August 23.

Students may register for either session or for both. High School graduation, or its equivalent, is the main requirement for admission. Special consideration will be given to veterans. Those planning to attend are asked to contact Dean McKee or their advisor as soon as possible.

Regular members of the college staff will be instructors in the following curricula: arts and sciences, music, pre-education, pre-law, physical education, home economics, engineering, basic engineering, pre-medical, pre-dental, medical technology, business administration and agriculture.

Plans are being made to offer the following courses: biology, general biological science, English, history, inorganic chemistry, mathematics, organic chemistry, physics, psychology, short-hand, sociology, typewriting and zoology.

Residence Hall will be open for the convenience of students who desire to live on the campus. Board and room will be provided at the rate of $160 for the eleven weeks session.

Fees for in-state students are $25 for either term; $35 for the eleven weeks. Non-residents of the state will pay $40 for one term; $50 for both.

Registration for the first term will start on Monday, June 9.

Farrady Post Sets Installation

Phillies Beat Burdette, 6-2; Tigers Stop Cleveland, 9-5

Champs Held To 5 Hits By Jack Sanford

Ashburn's First Homer Since 1956 Is Victory Margin

MILWAUKEE — Jack Sanford held the Milwaukee Braves to five hits and Richie Ashburn hit his first home run in two years as the Philadelphia Phillies salvaged the finale of a three-game series, 6-2, before 18,408 Sunday. Lew Burdette lasted only five innings as the Milwaukee starter and suffered his second defeat in three decisions.

The homer by Ashburn, a 375 foot drive with a mate aboard, climaxed a three-run fourth inning against Burdette. It proved to be the Phillies' margin of victory, since the score was 2-1 at the time and Harry Hanebrink completed the Braves' scoring with a home run in the bottom of the same inning.

Ashburn had not hit a homer since April 29, 1956, when he got one inside the park at the Polo Grounds in New York.

Besides the home run, the veteran center fielder singled twice and walked before having his perfect day at bat spoiled in the ninth. Chico Fernandez shared offensive honors with him by driving in three of the Phillies' runs.

Bow Hunting Is Legal In 18 Counties

Garrett, Allegany Season Nov. 1 To 14

BALTIMORE — Maryland's Game and Inland Fish Commission has announced dates for this year's bow and arrow season on deer in the 18 counties where it is legal.

Nov. 1-14 inclusive are dates for the season in Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties. The dates are Oct. 25-Nov. 14 inclusive in the counties of Baltimore, Calvert, Caroline, Carroll, Charles, Dorchester, Frederick, Harford, Kent, Queen Annes, St. Marys, Somerset, Talbot, Wicomico and Worcester.

Deer of either sex are fair game.

Director Ernest A. Vaughn said the season was reduced one week in Allegany, Garrett and Washington because sportsmen in that area opposed the deer season's conflict with the squirrel and turkey season Oct. 5-31. Vaughn said the overlap would permit violators to kill deer illegally with a rifle during the bow season.

There is no open season in the counties of Howard, Montgomery, Prince Georges and Anne Arundel and in Cecil except for a bucks season in Elk Neck State Forest.

Hebert Annexes Lafayette Open

LAFAYETTE, La. — Home town favorite Jay Hebert fired his fourth straight subpar round Sunday to win the $15,000 Lafayette Open Invitational Golf Tournament by a five-stroke margin.

Hebert, a Lafayette native playing out of Sanford, Fla., shot a four-under-par 67 for a 72-hole total of 273. He went into the final round trailing Leo Biagetti of St. Paul, Minn., and Bill Collins of Grossingers, N. Y., by one stroke.

Biagetti soared to a two-over-par 73 and finished in a second place tie with Bob Rosburg of Palo Alto, Calif., with a 278. Rosburg, tied for fifth Saturday, turned in a final round 69 to move up.

Collins took a 75 Sunday and dropped to a 280 and a tie for sixth.

The victory was worth $2,000 to Hebert and boosted his unofficial earnings for this year to $15,427 in 16 tournaments.

Training Is Slowed

Rain, which began Saturday and continued almost without letup, slowed up the training schedules a bit Sunday morning. At times it flowed faster than mint juleps at a Kentucky Colonel's party, and men and horses alike huddled in the barns.

Hartack insists he might ride with his left leg in a cast. But Jimmy Jones, trainer for the Clumet Farm, was looking for another jockey. Dr. George F. Sawyer, the track physician, said Hartack would be unable to ride.

"I'll just have to wait and see who's available," said Jones right after Hartack's mount reared in the starting gate before the second race Saturday and tossed his rider over backward. Hartack, who won the derby aboard Calumet's Iron Liege last year, suffered a broken fibula, the small bone between the ankle and knee.

Silky Is Fourth

Silky Sullivan put on his usual sensational show in the Stepping Stone Purse Saturday, coming from about 32 lengths back with a furious stretch drive. He got fourth place, but the race was only seven furlongs, the derby is a mile and one quarter, or 10 furlongs, and Silky's backers say the extra distance will be right up the roars and Kipstein colt's alley.

Mrs. Lora Birr's Belleau Chief nosed out the Llangollen Farm's Gone Fishin' in the Stepping Stone, while the Sunny Blue Farm's Lincoln Road was third.

The latest count down at the Derby barns showed 26 names still on the possible Derby list, but this will be trimmed by half a dozen or more. The weather will take care of some and the thought of shelling out another $1,500 to start may cool off a few others.

Parker Advises Rogel To Quit

PITTSBURGH — Fullback Fran Rogel, the all-time leading ground gainer of the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League, apparently is nearing the end of a brilliant career.

The stocky 30-year-old back with the churning legs confided to friends that Steeler coach Buddy Parker advised him to quit.

Parker confirmed the report Sunday, saying:

"I told Rogel that he played well enough and long enough and that he deserved a rest. He doesn't fit into our plays for 1958."

Five Local Novices Win Ring Titles

Hammond Is Best; PBC Cops Trophy; Loss About $300

Five Cumberland boxers, all representing the Police Boys Club, won championships in the finals of the Maryland Novice Tournament, staged Saturday night at 38 North Mechanic Street, before a disappointing crowd of 130 paying patrons.

Local leather pushers who won titles were Dick Gulick, flyweight; Charles Washington, 132-pounder; Jerry Hammond, 156; John Powell, middleweight, and Kenny Gray, heavyweight. The four other titles were won by Baltimoreans on the nine-bout program.

The team title went to the PBC, which rolled up a total of 40 points. Druid Hill YMCA, Baltimore, was runner-up with 18 points, followed by Ringside A.C., Baltimore, eight, and Cross Country Club, Baltimore, and Eckhart A.C., three points each.

Jerry Hammond, of the P.B.C., was voted the outstanding boxer in the tourney.

Trophies went to three teams, the P.B.C., Druid Hill and Ringside, and to Jerry Hammond, Champions and runners-up received silve, bracelets in the tourney sponsored by the Police Boys Club and sanctioned by the South Atlantic Association of the A.A.U.

All of the officials were Baltimoreans. The referees were Vince DePaula and Tom Kelly, while the judging was done by Leon Yarneth and Joseph Harris.

Promoters of the show, held on successive Saturday nights, reported taking a loss of approximately $300. The cost of putting on Cumberland's first A.A.U. tourney since 1949 was about $600.

Paid admissions on the first Saturday night numbered 143.

The forces on Formosa (Taiwan) are kept in a state of constant readiness. There is literally no end to drills, maneuvers, and bivouacs. All over the island, the men are training in the uplands or digging in along the coast. Planes fly overhead. Ships patrol the coast.

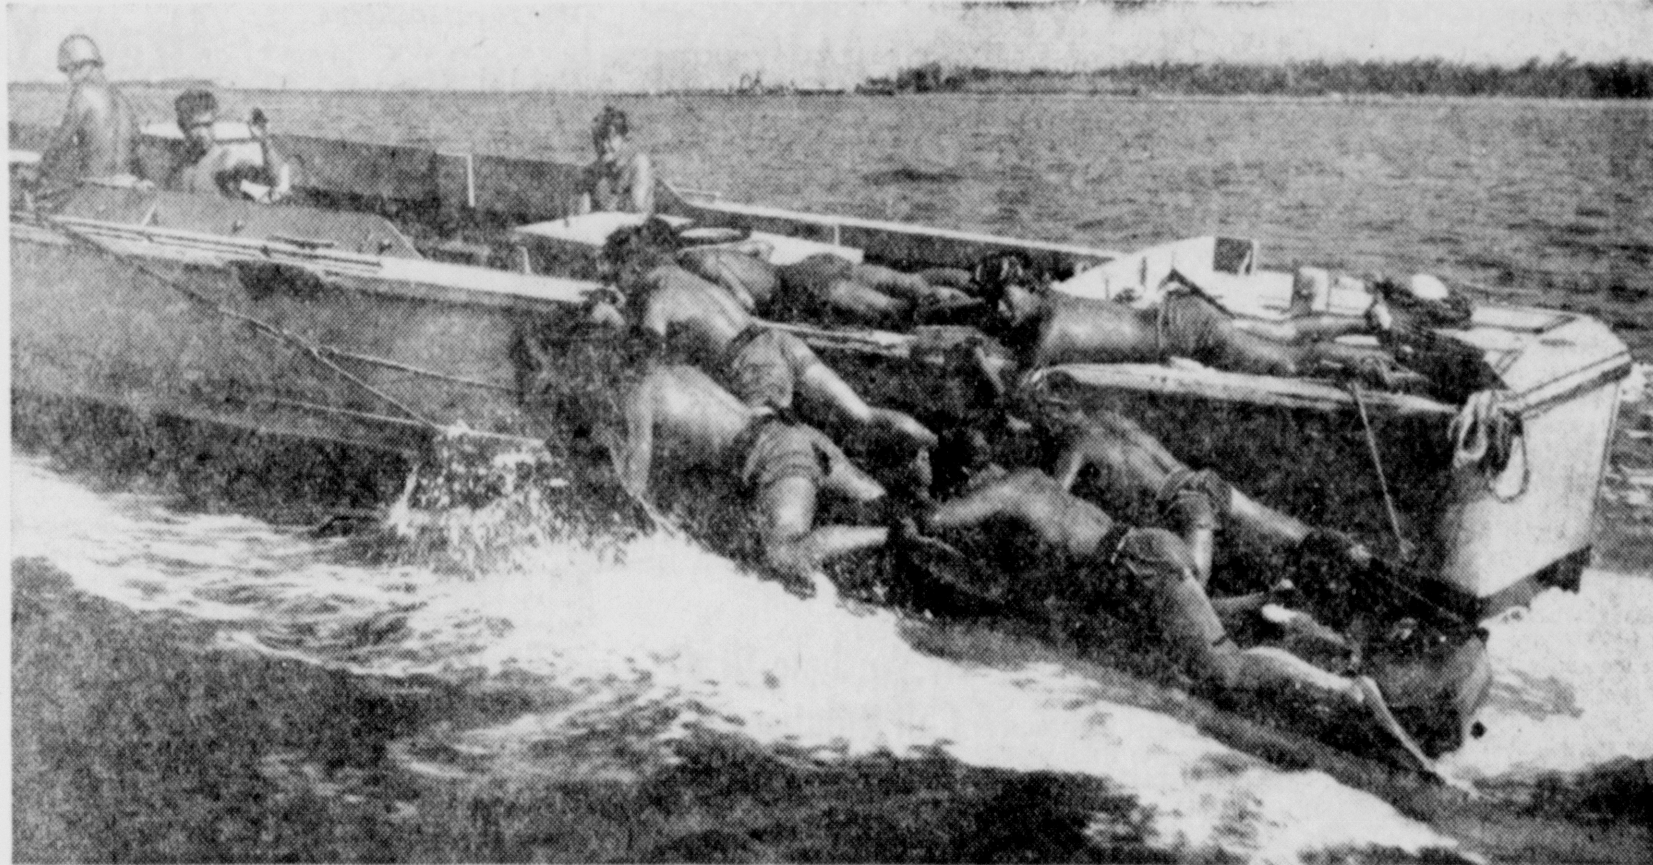

Above all looms the figure of Chiang Kai-shek, who brought with him his defeated armies and some 2 million Chinese when he fled the Reds in the dark days of 1949. The aging generalissimo vows he'll return to the mainland. The men under him feel likewise. "We're at the peak now," he said recently when asked about his troops.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, April 27 (INS).—Bette Davis had no more than set foot in her home in Maine after weeks on the coast than she started packing to be ready to sail May 6th on the SS Independence for Spain and "John Paul Jones."

The bid from producer Sam Bronston for her to play Catherine the Great—$50,000 in non-recession money—was too much to turn down although she recently signed a radio contract. She'll do the radio show aboard ship.

Bette has just four days work as Catherine. It's called a guest appearance such as Mike Todd introduced in "80 Days."

Bronston and director John Farrow have arranged for Bette's scenes to be shot at the Royal Palace in Madrid with permission of the Spanish government.

Tony Curtis and his two-year-old daughter, Kelly Lee, paid me a visit, and after the young character left for her outing in the park Tony told me some very interesting news.

He said that his next picture starts July 15th and is opposite Marilyn Monroe in "Some Like It Hot." "I hadn't planned to do anything for a few months," Tony told me. "But I couldn't pass up the opportunity to play opposite Marilyn, so I told Harold Mirisch I would do it."

"You see I made five pictures within eighteen months and I planned to rest awhile. Marilyn plays a singer in a band in 'Some Like It Hot' and I play a musician too," said Tony.

John O'Hara certainly can have no beef on "10 North Frederick." Charles Brackett, the producer, and Philip Dunne, the director, have stuck close to the O'Hara novel with the result they have a big audience picture.

I was amazed at Suzy Parker who I would have bet was through in Hollywood. I didn't care for her first picture but believe me she's good in "10 North Frederick." Diane Varsi, I continue to say, is one of the best young actresses who has ever come to Hollywood. As for Gary Cooper, there's only one of him in Hollywood and may he continue to be himself for many a day. Geraldine Fitzgerald as the bitter scheming mother is exactly as the book pictures her. Tom Tully too merits praise. I prophesy "10 North Frederick" will be another "Peyton Place" at the box office for 20th Century-Fox.

Bobby Cohn, so, of the late Jack Cohn and nephew of Harry Cohn, has eyes only for pretty singer Connie Towers. They've been going steady for a year.

Nat King Cole is always a sure draw at the Coconut Grove and his opening brought out his large following. The Glenn Wallichs, the Nelson Riddles, Margaret O'Brien with Eddit Samuels (the Eddie Fisher's accompanist), Jimmy Van Heusen were all ringside. The "Brown Bomber" Joe Louis and attorney Martha Jefferson were among those who applauded Nat.

At LaRue, Milton Rachmil was turning on the charm for Dorothy Towne, Jack Webb's ex, and at a table nearby Gay Humbestone, Lucky's ex, was talking animatedly with Howard Lang.

Congratulations to Carl Laemmle, Jr., on reaching his 50th mark. He's being feted tomorrow night by Rosabelle and Stanley Bergman with cocktails and buffet dinner.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

It's Nice To Hear

How many times in the past week have you thought something nice about someone—and said nothing about it? Why did you keep your good thoughts to yourself? Was there really a good reason?

Perhaps there was. There is risk of sounding bold or gushy in some cases. But these are few. The world would be a happier place if many more of us put into words the complimentary thoughts we have about each other. Most of us even enjoy a little blarney now and then however little we believe it.

is usually overwhelmed and very emotional about it. No matter how fully he deserves it, it always seems to come as a shock—so little of the praise and appreciation clearly rendered at last was apparent beforehand. Why shouldn't it be? Occasional words to brighten everyday routine may mean more than a testimonial occasion.

Let the one thing that loosens your tongue be sincerity. If the flattering thing you can say is true, say it unless it's too personal. Temper your words to the person and your relations with her or with him—of course you can't bubble over a co-worker you don't know too well as well as you can with your best friend.

Speak simply, with taste and with restraint if need be, but speak when you honestly feel admiring. It's seldom that you can say the wrong thing when your feeling is genuine and understanding. And it's wonderful how what you say is enjoyed.

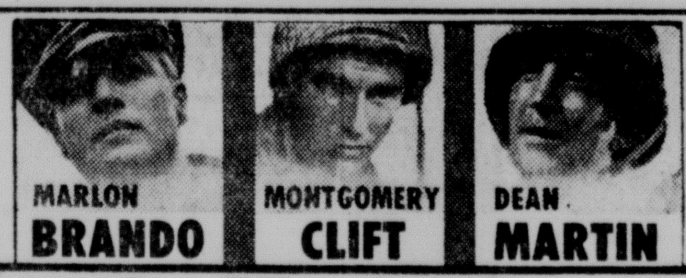

Right now you may have in mind someone who works beside you who needs more encouragement than is offered for doing a good job. Don't wait a day longer to express your sentiments. But think, too, of close friends and family members who are supposed to take your approval for granted. Sometimes they, more than anyone else, are the ones who hear little of praise from you—and they will appreciate it most.

Counter Challenges To Buyer Resistance

Consumer resistance to higher prices is resulting in some counter-challenges by firms involved.

The general manager of the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies made a speech in San Francisco in which he declared it was time for the automobile insurance companies to "be bold" in revealing why insurance rates had to go higher.

The speaker, J. Dewey Dorsett, said that while public resistance to rising prices is "understandable," it was resulting in a creeping tide of rejections by state supervisory authorities of filings for insurance rate increases. This could be ruinous for the insurance companies, Mr. Dorsett declared.

Mr. Dorsett said that while insurance rates have been increased, stock casualty companies have not been making excessive profits. In fact, since World War II automobile liability insurance has produced an underwriting loss.

The reason? Too many accidents; inflation driving auto repair costs up, physicians' fees up, and higher hospital rates. High jury verdicts and taxes also are involved.

The insurance companies may have a valid case. But the point of detailing this recital is that it will probably be the pattern followed by many other groups faced with consumer resistance. In fact, it is probably one reason why prices will continue climbing despite the recession, making the boom that will follow all the more inflationary.

Prices and costs of services all seem tangled in a web. And its direction, unfortunately for the consumer, seems ever upward.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Railroad Problem

The President's proposal to aid the railroads by a $700,000,000 loan, with certain other alleviations of their difficulties, is, of course, a makeshift, emergency solution to a pressing problem. The railroads have been kept in such a non-competitive bondage by the Interstate Commerce Commission that they are today, so far as passenger services are concerned, outpriced in competition with airplanes, buses, private automobiles, etc. Because wages and prices on the railroads are absolutely controlled, as are all the terms of employment and the methods of operations, no railroad in the United States has been able to operate on a business basis, certainly since World War I when the government took over the railroads. In a word, the railroads have not been free to meet progress and they show it. True, they have substituted the diesel for the locomotive, but that has not solved any great fundamental problem.

The air-services usually enjoy terminal facilities which are paid for out of public funds. On the other hand, the railroads have to maintain all their facilities at their own expense. It is true that many railroads received enormous concessions when they were started, but that was long ago and does not affect the present situation at all. A railroad has to maintain a costly right-of-way, a more costly road-bed. The air-lines fly in the free heavens and the protective services (beams, etc.) are maintained by the government of the United States out of taxes. Buses and trucks use public roads, paid for by the taxpayer and maintained and kept in repair by the taxpayer. These advantages have grown up as new means of transportation developed and no important steps have been taken to permit the railroads to keep themselves in a competitive position. In fact, the Interstate Commerce Commission, which was established to keep the railroads competitive, has actually served to make them non-competitive and bureaucratic. A new idea usually finds desert soil in this enterprise because so many authorities have to be consulted and it takes them so long to reach a decision.

The railroads are still valuable in war-time; they are absolutely essential for the mass movements of men and materials and could not be abandoned on the assumption that the alternate means of communications will serve. Air-lines and buses must, in any emergency, remain auxiliary services. In war, only the railroad can serve to move the heavy equipment required by the new-type unconventional weapons.

Therefore what is most needed is an over-all study of the entire transportation system of the nation by some capable body such as Herbert Hoover developed in his various task forces. The object would be to analyze the position as it is today; to equate values; to produce more equity among the different means of transportation; to make public inequities in taxation and offer some solution concerning them; to disclose hidden as well as public subsidies for all transportation services; and, on the whole, to make sure that our means of moving human beings and goods are not antiquated and obsolescent and bound by red-tape and senility.

On a recent train trip from New York to Miami Beach and back, our train consisted of cars of varying vintages, so that passengers, paying the same fare, enjoyed unequal facilities. This is absurd in any business. I rode in a Rock Island Pullman which the Florida East Coast Railway had not bothered to paint over to look like its own equipment. Returning to New York, we came in more than two hours late, although the weather was excellent; there had been no accident on the road and no reason, other than very bad railroad practices and poor servicing of the diesels between trips. Also, so many trains are taken off or combined with other trains, that the diesels pull too heavy a load.

If the railroads wish to give up First Class travel, they should make an announcement to that effect. Otherwise they are accepting additional fare without providing customary additional services. When the important crack-trains are brought low, we shall know that the railroads really prefer to abandon passenger service altogether; yet passenger service is an essential railroad task.

All this needs to be studied, impartially, with a view toward restoring the primary means of transportation of the country.

Talking Ourselves Into It

Story Of Year Unfolds Right Now In Congress

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—The story of the year is being unfolded right now in Congress.

It's the story of how labor-union money — contributed heavily in recent political campaigns — keeps a majority of members of Congress from enacting laws that would do away with the rackets whereby the dues of the working-men are stolen or misused.

It's the story also of how Congress, though knowing full well how boycotts of innocent parties are used to further the aims of labor unions, does nothing by way of legislation to correct the abuses.

It's the story of how goons and hired thugs intimidate American citizens who venture to assert their right to work and to cross picket lines.

Plenty of outcries are heard when "civil rights" are denied in other fields of constitutional law, but no such support is given the simple proposition that the American citizen must be free to join or not to join a union and, if he declines, that he must not for such reason alone be deprived of his job.

Today, in certain trades, a citizen cannot earn a livelihood unless he consents to become, against his will, a member of a labor union which can use his dues money to finance the election of candidates for public office with whose views the worker happens not to agree. Here is "thought control" and a denial of the basic principals embodied in the Constitution itself.

Today to cross a picket line in a big strike is to jeopardize one's life. Local police authorities are intimidated by the political power of labor unions and do not give adequate protection to the citizen.

Few diseases are easier to treat than a sluggish thyroid (hypothyroidism). Dramatic changes take place in the appearance, personality, and sense of well being when the victim takes a tablet or two of thyroid extract daily.

On the other hand, the condition often is overlooked, especially when the manifestations are vague. Persons with disturbances due to hypothyroidism have been dubbed neurotics. In the middle-aged women, the menopause frequently is blamed for all complaints. In addition, many manifestations are not recognized by the individual until they are brought to his attention.

A poorly functioning thyroid must be considered whenever a person is tired all the time and finds it difficult to keep warm

zen. Companies that are not parties to a strike are sometimes boycotted if they buy materials or goods from a company that is having a labor dispute.

Financial irregularities have been disclosed in about five major unions. Many of the other big unions have not been investigated as yet. Senator McClellan of Arkansas, Democrat, has thrown the searchlight on the misuse of union funds. The newspapers have been printing articles about it for several months.

Now, however, the time has come for action. But it looks as if a majority in Congress is itself intimidated. Privately, many members say they would like to go ahead, but the Democratic party—which is more beholden to the labor unions than are the Republicans—doesn't want to put the legislation through this year because it fears that individual members might be hurt in the coming congressional elections.

The plan all along has been to bury the legislation in committee in the Senate. There was to be no voting on broad aspects of the labor-union problem. But Senator William Knowland of California, Republican leader, took the bit in his teeth this week and decided to try for roll-call votes which would make every member answer to all the people and not just to the labor-union lobbyists.

At first it was reported that there wouldn't be a chance for

Baering Down On The News

It has been our argument that no politician is safe and sound who can open one without the other.

There's been a bit of that up-state financing recently in our neck-of-the-woods. There would be no honesty in office if the ghost at the feast haunted the ice-box too.

There should always be a Democrat shound-dogging the Republicans and twice-as-versa. A bell on the cash register may not keep 'em honest. But it sure will make 'em hate music.

W. Va. Congressman Bailey Begins Formal Hearings On School Bill

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Today begin formal hearings before Congressmen Cleveland Bailey (D., W. Va.) for a school bill. It does not have the support of the Eisenhower administration, or of the big trucking and gasoline lobbies which rushed through the highway bill, or of the real estate interests that passed a housing bill, or of the banking lobby which blocked an investigation of high interest rates.

If the school bill passes it will be largely the work of the women of the nation, as exemplified by today's lead-off witness, Agnes Meyer, sometimes called "the people's lobbyist."

Fort over 150 years American women have crusaded for better education, beginning with Emma Willard of Troy, N. Y. in 1800, and May Lyon who founded Mount Holyoke College, and Catherine Beecher of Hartford, and Grace Dodge who devoted her life to educating immigrant children, and Ella Flagg Young who became the first woman superintendent of schools in Chicago; to Susan Miller Dorsey, first woman school superintendent in Los Angeles.

In recent years Mrs. Meyer, wife of the chairman of the Washington Post, has made it her job to interview President Eisenhower to urge better education, has talked with Senators, worked with Cabinet members, and today is the first witness in urging passage of the Murray-Metcalf bill which would grant states $25 a year for each school-age student and permit the states to spend the money on better buildings or better teachers' salaries as they wished.

"Knowledge," says Mrs. Meyer, "is the greatest single source of power in the working out of human destiny. Ideas are still the most powerful of all missiles. . . . The cold war has been shifted by the astute leaders in the Kremlin from a competition in physical strength to a competition in brains."

"Whatever nation has the intellectual energy to win the support, respect and sympathy of the world's people, wins the world. . . . Unless Americans take education far more seriously than they have in recent times, they will not long be able to compete with the U.S.S.R. for world leadership."

Neglected Author of Monroe Doctrine

Today is the 200th anniversary of a distinguished Virginian, James Monroe, President of the United States and author of the Monroe Doctrine. For over a year two present-day Virginians, Sen. Harry Byrd of Winchester and Congressman Howard Smith of Alexandria, have been sitting on a resolution they themselves introduced to honor this great founding father.

The Monroe Doctrine has been hailed as the first great proclamation of interdependence between the Americas. Monroe also arranged the Louisiana Purchase. Having been instructed to purchase only the city of New Orleans, he exceeded his instructions and acquired the entire territory of Louisiana.

However, no resolution to honor him has been passed by Congress.

Senator Byrd introduced a resolution to honor him, but did little or nothing to pass it. Byrd is a great power in the Senate. When the insurance companies wanted a $124,000,000 tax concession passed before the tax deadline of March 15 this year, Byrd led the fight to give them that concession. It passed just before midnight March 14.

When Senator Byrd's office was queried as to what he had done about the Monroe anniversary resolution, the answer was that it was still in subcommittee, awaiting action.

Congressman Smith is also one of the most powerful members of Congress. As Chairman of the House Rules Committee he can block bills or rush them through in no time. He gave an immediate green light to the $124,000,000 tax bonanza for insurance companies. But when his office was queried about the resolution honoring President Monroe, the answer came: "still in subcommittee."

Today is the 200th anniversary of Monroe's birth. It is late, but not too late to pass the resolution even now.

Women Vs. Meat Packers

The meat-packer lobbyists have wangled an agreement from Senator Ellender of Louisiana, Chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, to give the opponents of the humane slaughter bill three days to testify against the bill. Those who favor humane slaughter will get only one day.

This will put the U.S. Army, the meat packers, and the Farm Bureau on the side of knocking animals in the head with a hammer and will put the Methodist Church, various humane societies, and hundreds of women on the side of using a carbon dioxide tunnel or other humane methods to slaughter animals.

Secretary of the Army Brucker has now lined up with his Cabinet colleague, Secretary of Agriculture Benson, to support the meat packers. He is against a proposed provision that all meat purchased for the Army must be slaughtered by humane methods.

On the other side, the General Board of the Social and Economic Relations of the Methodist Church has just passed a vigorous resolution backing the humane slaughter bill and protesting Congressional delay in acting.

Most important of all, the women are threatening to boycott meat packers who don't adopt humane slaughter.

Note—It was a woman, Rep. Martha Griffiths, Democrat of Michigan, who put the humane slaughter bill through the House. (Copyright, 1958, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

The lights dimmed in the grand ballroom. The orange lanterns hanging from the boxes glowed against the blackness. The stage lights in the Waldorf-Astoria went on and now, in the gloom, the faces of 2,000 editors showed up like scattered confetti. This was the annual luncheon of the Banishes for the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

It is not a simple thing. It is a luxury for the palate, the eye and the ear. The editors and publishers had finished eating and the clatter of cups against saucers, the raucous buzz of conversation, were dying. They had partaken of Bisque and Mississippi Crawfish, Beef Bourgeoise, Nest of Beignets Potatoes, Asparagus Tips Polonaise, Snowball Ice Cream with bitter-sweet chocolate sauce, Petits Fours, and coffee.

Their bellies were full. They puffed on cigars and cigarettes and they watched Bugs Baer come onstage. Mr. Baer is a youthful and buoyant man with a face that looks as though it had been pinched in a launching pad. As Chief Banisher, he kept his part to a minimum and introduced Herbert Hoover Jr. and George Healy Jr., new President of the Newspaper Editors, Henry Cabot Lodge and a few others.

The first act was Mr. Bob Hope, a man who smiles on one side of his face as though he has just done something and is not telling. The editors and publishers gave him the thunder of their hands.

"I did a column for a while," said Mr. Hope. "But I had a tough break. Somebody read it." He talked about President Eisenhower. "I knew Ike when he was a general and had some power." Like a girl playing a fast game of hopscotch, he skipped to golf and Bing Crosby and Frank Sinatra. "Golf," he said, "is a game for fellows who are too old for girls and still want to get into a trap."

"A few weeks ago, I played Sinatra in Florida. He was wearing a red tie and the caddy kept sticking him back in the hole." Then, on to newspapers. "The newspaper," he said, "is an important facet of American education. How else can anybody find out what's playing on television?" He left to catch a plane. He said that, until two years ago, Mrs. Hope thought he was a pilot. "In closing," he said, "I want to leave you with a solemn thought:

somewhere on a lonely front Elvis is defending us."

He was followed by Mr. Jimmy Durante. Out front, Louis Sobol turned to George Dixon and said: "If this is the act he does at the Copa, it's terrific." It was and it was. Mr. Durante, the man who eviscerates hats and pianos, came out in a bedlam, roaring: "Let me hear that high note!"

When the applause died, he combed what is left on his bald head. "Not much there," he said, "but every strand has a muscle." At one point, he stopped the band. "The trombone player," he said ominously, "is using only one lip." Jimmy had his old and cherished friend, Eddie Jackson, with him. And, as always, Mr. Jackson, fat and aging, did a strut.

When Jimmy departed, Mr. Baer said that the show was not over. The next act would be Robert Preston and the cast of the new hit, "The Music Man." I had seen the show with the Tommy Thompsons of King Features and one of my weaknesses is a good barbershop quartet. Mr. Preston obliged by announcing that the Buffalo Bills would sing Lida Rose while, in musical counterpoint, Miss Barbara Cook would sing "Sweet and Low."

It wrecked me. I would rather see "The Music Man" than to see any other musical ever produced. It is the only show in which the audience hums louder than the cast can sing. The editors applauded so long that the curtain at the Waldorf-Astoria had to be reopened to permit more bows.

At 2:30, Bugs Baer said that the show was over. The lights came up in the Grand Ballroom and the orange lanterns faded in color. John O'Connell, editor of Cosmopolitan Magazine, nodded agreeably. "That was a good one," he said. "Maybe the best show they've had."

The editors filed out in groups to buy back their hats and coats. I looked for Rossman Wyncop of The Bergen Evening Record, but he had left. In the corridors, the men lingered to talk shop and the polite elevator boys kept saying: "Going down. Going down." This reminded the editors of the state of the nation and some of them walked to the stairs.

They went home a day later to tell their wives how hard they worked.

You're Telling Me!

By William Ritt

A physical checkup of the entire police force of a southern city proved that less than 30 per cent have flat feet. Darn!—there goes another time-honored nickname down the drain!

Food containers for space crews will also be edible, it's predicted. Looks like our roving rocketeers of the future will not only have their cake but will eat the paper plate, too.

It's suggested the proposed Span Island between Brooklyn and Staten Island be named the Verazzano bridge. Wonder how that'll sound, pronounced Flat-bush style!

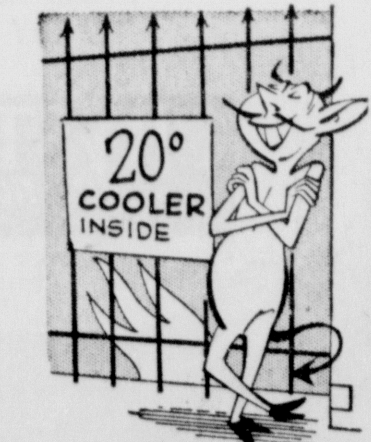

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A wealthy gambler knew he was sinking fast. He also had a pretty good idea where he was going. "No use putting any clothes on me when I cash in my checks," he told his wife. "Bury me in my birthday suit, so I'll be as comfortable as possible in the elimate down below."

The wife faithfully observed his wishes, but one week to the day after his burial, his ghost seeped through the window, and his hollow voice pleaded, "Darling, give me every suit and heavy overcoat I've left. There's been a big change in Hades. There are so many big shots down there now that the devil has put in air conditioning."

A foreign correspondent, admitted to a satellite country in Eastern Europe, wanted to know why there were so many breadlines. "We Communists have so much bread these days," explained a government official glibly, "we have to give it away to the people!"

Phillies Beat Burdette, 6-2; Tigers Stop Cleveland, 9-5

Champs Held To 5 Hits By Jack Sanford

Ashburn's First Homer Since 1956 Is Victory Margin

MILWAUKEE — Jack Sanford held the Milwaukee Braves to five hits and Richie Ashburn hit his first home run in two years as the Philadelphia Phillies salvaged the finale of a three-game series, 6-2, before 18,408 Sunday. Lew Burdette lasted only five innings as the Milwaukee starter and suffered his second defeat in three decisions.

The homer by Ashburn, a 375-foot drive with a mate aboard, climaxed a three-run fourth inning against Burdette. It proved to be the Phillies' margin of victory, since the score was 2-1 at the time and Harry Hanebrink completed the Braves' scoring with a home run in the bottom of the same inning.

Ashburn had not hit a homer since April 29, 1956, when he got one inside the park at the Polo Grounds in New York.

Besides the home run, the veteran center fielder singled twice and walked before having his perfect day at bat spoiled in the ninth. Chico Fernandez shared offensive honors with him by driving in three of the Phillies' runs.

Cubs Execute Triple Play, Whip Giants

22,696 See Chicago Win On Coast, 5-4

SAN FRANCISCO — After pulling off a first-inning triple play, the Chicago Cubs fought from behind Sunday to chalk up a 5-4 victory over the National League leading San Francisco Giants. A packed house of 22,696 saw the Cubs score two runs in the eighth and one in the ninth.

The Giants held onto their half-game lead because of second place Milwaukee's 6-2 loss to Philadelphia.

Orlando Cepeda, rookie Giant first baseman, hit his third homer of the season in the ninth but the rally died aborning.

The triple play came in the first with Willie Kirkland on second and Willie Mays on first. Hank Sauer cracked a line shot and the runners were off. But Dick Drott, the Cubs' starting pitcher, caught the ball, wheeled and threw to Tony Taylor for two—and Taylor whipped to Dale Long for the third out.

Chicago had its big inning in the eighth. Catcher Sam Taylor walked and manager Bill Rigney replaced Ruben Gomez who had given up only six hits to that time. Marv Grissom, the Giants' 40-year-old reliever, came in and yielded a walk, a single and a double by Ernie Banks for two runs before he was replaced by Jim Constance.

Bandit Robs Bedford Motel

Lone Youth Flees With $100, Eludes Police Roadblocks

A young bandit held up the night clerk of a motel at the Bedford, Pa., entrance to the Pennsylvania Turnpike yesterday morning and escaped with approximately $100.

State Police said Glenn R. Spriggs, 22, clerk of the Midway Motel, was robbed at gunpoint by an unmasked youth who entered the motel office shortly after 1:30 a. m. (EST). The holdup man—described by Mr. Spriggs as about 18 or 19 years old; 5 feet, 10 inches tall; 165 pounds; wearing a light tan raincoat, brown hat, white shirt, and blue-green trousers—escaped in a dark-colored sedan, believed to be a 1955 or 1956 Ford.

Local Girl Wins Fourth Degree Spelling Bee

30 Students Take Part In Contest

Mary Elizabeth Akers, of SS. Peter and Paul School, yesterday won the second annual spelling contest sponsored by Chief Justice Taney Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus.

She became eligible for the first prize of $25 when she spelled "vicinity" yesterday afternoon before more than 300 spelling enthusiasts, old and young, in Carroll Hall.

Elizabeth McBee, eighth-grade student at St. Peter's School, Westernport, won second place and a $15 prize and Carol Meade, of St. Patrick's School, Mt. Savage, third place and a $10 prize.

They were among the 30 contestants appearing in the contest for seventh and eighth grade students of parochial schools within the jurisdiction of the assembly.

Carl L. Firlie and John F. O'Rourke were co-chairmen and John J. Coyle the master of ceremonies for the old fashioned spelling bee.

Miss Agnes Carroll, who served as moderator, commended the students for their ability.

The spelling bee went 37 rounds and ended before a list of 500 words, furnished by competing schools, was exhausted.

The students "went down" on such words as keim, comparable, nuclear, knack, permanent, percolator, colonel, massacre, triplicate, tactics, cease, stratosphere, suite, liquidate and synthesize.

All of the winning spellers took part in the first spelling bee sponsored by the Fourth Degree last year.

Dr. W. R. Allen Named To Y' Area Board

Dr. William R. Allen, local dentist and first vice president of Central YMCA here, was elected to the Central Atlantic Area Board of YMCAs at the 1958 council meeting of the area at Buck Hill Falls, Pa., over the weekend.

Dr. Allen will serve an unexpired term for one year on the board, the steering committee of the area which is comprised of YMCAs in Puerto Rico, Maryland, New Jersey, Delaware and District of Columbia. It marked the first time in many years Cumberland has been represented on the board.

The three-day meeting of the area council, of which there are 18 in the National Council of YMCAs, began Friday and concluded at noon yesterday. The Cumberland YMCA was represented at the session by B. U. Smith, general secretary, and James Fortner, program secretary.

The principal address was delivered Saturday by Dr. R. H. Edwin Espy, associate general secretary of the United Council of Churches, who spoke on the conditions of the world today and the problems confronting churches and YMCAs in their effort to help people.

"At a recognition meeting yesterday Mr. Smith introduced Mr. Fortner to the council. Mr. Fortner recently became a certified YMCA secretary.

Among the luminaries at the session were Herbert P. Lansdale Jr., of New York, general secretary of the national council; Dr. Eugene Barnett, former general secretary of the national group; and Richard C. Lancaster, executive director of personnel services of the national body.

The next meeting of the area council will be held in Washington on April 30, 11 and 12 next year.

Long Attacks U. S. Policy In Near East

Support Israel, Candidate Urges

BALTIMORE (AP) — Clarence D. Long said Sunday the State Department's policy in the Middle East has "made a major contribution to the accomplishment of the interests of Russian Communism and of the enemies of Israel."

Long, a candidate for Democratic nomination to the U.S. Senate, called for a reappraisal of "the repeated tragic failures of Secretary of State Dulles' Middle East policies."

Long proposed these steps: 1. A follow-up declaration to the Eisenhower Doctrine, which "will guarantee the territorial integrity of the State of Israel."

2. That the U. S. delegation to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization move to have Israel invited to join the Atlantic Alliance.

3. Until this is done, offering Israel arms and military advice.

4. Demanding from Jordan and Iraq a guarantee that any American weapons placed at their disposal be used only for countering Soviet aggression.

5. The use of U. S. influence with the Baghdad pact organization to induce Iraq to conclude an armistice with Israel under United Nations auspices.

"The callousness and folly of State Department attitudes must be brought to an end," said Long. "And, if Secretary of State Dulles finds that this is embarrassing to his own ego, he should forthwith resign. But whether he resigns or not, the above measures should be taken by our State Department and without further delay."

Candidates In Howard County
The Democrats' hard plugging Senate candidates paraded their campaign appeal for the benefit of the Young Democrats of Howard County Saturday night.

All of the major aspirants to the nomination, that is, except Thomas D'Alessandro. He was busy trying to rustle up votes for the May 20 primary test in Kent County and was delayed in trying to return for the Howard County party rally at West Friendship.

So he sent a substitute, John O. Rutherford, who is campaign secretary of the "harmony" ticket and clerk of the Baltimore City Council.

But Rutherford was accorded anything but a warm reception at the banquet held at West Friendship. In fact, he was booed when he first mentioned the Baltimore mayor's name.

There were mutterings among the crowd from time to time and Rutherford did not have an easy time arguing that D'Alessandro had been "the best mayor of Baltimore" and deserved promotion to Washington.

However, some in the gathering applauded when the speaker ticked off such D'Alessandro programs as building of schools, street paving and some other public improvements.

Others who appeared in the flesh found a receptive audience as they plugged their candidacies.

Mahoney, Bruce Speak
George P. Mahoney, five time runner in Maryland primaries who has never gained a general election victory, described himself as "one of the great salesmen of the Democratic party."

Others who had gone out and met people in the highways and by-ways. One, furthermore, who had been a staunch party man through the years "even when it was popular to be a Republican a few years ago."

Housewives' Group Backs Mahoney
BALTIMORE (AP) — George P. Mahoney was endorsed by a group of housewives Sunday in his campaign for Maryland's Democratic senatorial nomination.

The backing came from the Housewives Alliance, a 31-year-old organization affiliated with the Federation of Women's Clubs and the Gavel Club of Baltimore.

Mrs. J. Edward Stier of Baltimore, president, said the group decided to support Mahoney because of his "great understanding of the problems of homemakers who, even in times of recession and reduced payrolls, must pay ever-increasing prices when they purchase food for their families."

The alarms resulted from three blue fires, two brush fires, one vehicle fire and one overheated furnace. Damage was slight.

A total of 78 man-hours were used to fight the fires and an average of 16 men answered each alarm.

April's record is already higher than the first quarter total, Chief Loar said.

The company has answered 12 alarms, 11 of them from brush fires, since April 1, and 130 man-hours were spent in quenching the fires.

Firemen urged residents of the LaVale area to be particularly careful when burning brush or grass during the next few weeks, and requested that people have a supply of water on hand when fires are started.

Three fire prevention movies will be shown today at 8 p. m. in the fire hall. The public is welcome and there is no admission.

Memorial Hospital
Mr. and Mrs. Orval G. Rhodes, 9 East Roberts Street, a son last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Bruck, LaVale, a daughter yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Smith, 29 Water Street, a son yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman F. Geatz Jr., 815 Maplewood Lane, a son yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Dickey, 105 Fifth Street, a son Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dressman, RFD 1, city, a daughter Saturday.

Church Foundation Is Prepared

Men and equipment of the Hazelwood Construction Company are speeding the construction of St. Paul's Lutheran Church edifice on the old Roman property at Washington and Smallwood streets. One wall of the foundation is seen formed in the background as a shovel dumps earth in a waiting truck. A rope blanket, used to blast for the foundation, is in the left foreground. The building is slated for completion early next spring under a $667,800 contract awarded the local firm.

SAMUEL J. WESTON

VA Office Gets New Chief; Hours Changed

The Cumberland office of the Veterans Administration is now in charge of Samuel J. Weston, who succeeds Frank T. Trawinski, transferred to the VA office at Perry Point Hospital.

R. T. Brown, acting manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Baltimore, said Mr. Weston has begun his duties here.

Mr. Weston started with the Administration in November 1943. He has served at Sioux Falls, S. D.; Roanoke, Va.; Baltimore, Hagerstown, Frederick and Fort Howard. He has been in charge of offices at Hagerstown and Frederick.

Mr. Weston is married and has one daughter age 15. His family resides now at Williamsport and he plans to move there later. He is a veteran of World War II and was transferred here from the VA office at Fort Howard.

Mr. Weston stated that beginning today, the local office will inaugurate new service hours. The office, located on the third floor of the Cumberland Post Office Building, will open at 8:30 a. m. instead of 8 a. m. and will remain open until 5 p. m. instead of the previous closing hour of 4:30 p. m. A local survey shows that few claimants visit the office before 8:30 a. m. and occasionally visitors have been reported between 4:30 and 5 p. m. Mr. Weston believes the office can render better service to area veterans and their dependents if the hours are changed.

Man Is Sought On Check Charge
Local authorities are on the lookout for a man passing fraudulent checks in the Cumberland area.

City police said last night a local jeweler reported the check passer bought a radio about 10 days ago and wrote a $51 check in payment.

The check was made out on the Bank of Richmond in Virginia and signed by a George C. Woodling. It bounced, police stated. The suspect also is believed to have passed additional bad checks in the area.

He is described as about 50 to 55 years old, 5 feet, 9 inches tall, 175 pounds, dark complexion and dressed well.

Woman Is Missing

Mrs. Rosie Mongold, 159 Polk Street, has been reported missing from her home since shortly after 7 p. m. Saturday. She is 50 years old, 5 feet, 4 inches tall, weighs 195 pounds and wears glasses. She had on a black coat when she left her home, City Police were told.

LaVale Firemen Make 7 Runs In First Quarter

The LaVale Volunteer Fire Company answered seven alarms during the quarter ending March 31, according to a report issued yesterday by Fire Chief James Loar.

The alarms resulted from three blue fires, two brush fires, one vehicle fire and one overheated furnace. Damage was slight.

A total of 78 man-hours were used to fight the fires and an average of 16 men answered each alarm.

April's record is already higher than the first quarter total, Chief Loar said.

The company has answered 12 alarms, 11 of them from brush fires, since April 1, and 130 man-hours were spent in quenching the fires.

Firemen urged residents of the LaVale area to be particularly careful when burning brush or grass during the next few weeks, and requested that people have a supply of water on hand when fires are started.

Three fire prevention movies will be shown today at 8 p. m. in the fire hall. The public is welcome and there is no admission.

County To Launch 1958 Cancer Drive Tomorrow

Allegany County will launch its 1958 cancer fund drive tomorrow evening when 500 "Cancer Crusaders" will begin a house-to-house canvass.

"Tomorrow we will be asking the citizens of Allegany County to support the 1958 Cancer Crusade. We believe they would like to know that 60 cents out of every dollar they give will stay right here in our state to be used for regional control programs and treatment of victims."

This statement was made by Dr. Benedict Skitarellic, chairman of the cancer campaign, in explaining the American Cancer Society's current budget.

Of the 40 per cent which is used by the national society, 25 per cent is allocated for research, 12 per cent for education, administration and fund raising, and the remainder is used for medical grants, fellowships, and advanced training in cancer diagnosis and treatment, according to Dr. Skitarellic.

Mrs. Fay Stillwagon, chairman of the house-to-house canvass, said most workers will make their calls between 5 p. m. and 8 p. m. tomorrow, while others will call earlier in the day or make call-backs on Wednesday if there is no one at home.

It is hoped by William Walsh, president of the Allegany County chapter, that at least $10,000 will be raised this year. He said that last year approximately $12,000 was raised during the fund drive.

Some captains still need workers. Mrs. Stillwagon said, and anyone interested in taking part in tomorrow's door-to-door canvass may contact Mrs. Stillwagon at PA 2-2766, or the county chapter's office, PA 2-2145.

Plans for eliminating health and fire hazards in the Bowmans Addition section will be discussed at a meeting in the community today.

Sponsored by the Allegany County Health Department and the Bowmans Addition Fire Department, the meeting will be held at 7 p. m. in the Bowmans Addition Fire Hall.

Speakers will include Dr. Ton van Strien, health officer, and J. B. Dowling, sanitarian, for the Health Department, and Garnett L. Minnick, president, and Lee C. Emerick, chief for the fire company.

Mr. Dowling said efforts will be made to eliminate some of the conditions which are developing in the area.

He said a recent survey showed about 62 trash piles, dumps or junk yards existing in the area without permits. The conditions, he added, depreciate property values in the neighborhood and create fire or health hazards.

Six Youngsters To Face Charges
Six Cumberland youngsters, three girls and three boys, will face hearings in Juvenile Court after police apprehended them in the act of taking several bottles of beer from the rear porch of a Hay Street residence.

City police said all were arrested after authorities received a call to investigate someone climbing over the rear porch of the building. The six range in age from 13 to 15.

Births
Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Healy, Alexandria, Va., announce the birth of a son there April 24. The mother is the former Miss Ruth Farrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Raymond Farrell, 521 Cumberland Street.

Memorial Hospital
Mr. and Mrs. Orval G. Rhodes, 9 East Roberts Street, a son last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Bruck, LaVale, a daughter yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Smith, 29 Water Street, a son yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman F. Geatz Jr., 815 Maplewood Lane, a son yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Dickey, 105 Fifth Street, a son Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dressman, RFD 1, city, a daughter Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Seeker, Romney, W. Va., a daughter Saturday.

Girl Scout Troop 21 Holds Awards Court Ceremony
An investiture ceremony and court of awards were held by Girl Scout Troop No. 21 of Parkside School at the school library.

Invested were Joyce Broadwater, Karen Gray and Linda Stewart.

Joan Harman, Kitty Lou Fazanbaker, Becky Hutson, Jo Ann Otto and Virginia Harman conducted a flag ceremony followed by the repetition of the Girl Scout laws and motto by the troop.

Mrs. Thomas Hansel presented second class awards to Betty Aronholt, Jo Ann Morgan, Arelene Lewine, Betsy Brock, Nancy Morgan, Patty Robertson, Nancy Miller, Susan Lucas, Mary Shaw and Diana Morgan.

Mrs. Paul Fazanbaker presented the star badge to Linda Chaney, Kitty Lou Fazanbaker, Joan Harman, Virginia Harman, Suzanne Hederick, Becky Hutson, Betsy Lee, Jo Ann Otto and Marcia Wright.

Mrs. Albert Morgan presented the insect badge to Betty Aronholt, Susan Lucas, Diana Morgan, Patty Robertson, Jo Ann Morgan, Arelene Lewine, Nancy Miller, Mary Shaw and Nancy Morgan.

Mrs. Harley Chaney presented the trefol badge to Gemma Jean Hansel, Barbara Mullooly, Ann Wallizer, Linda Chaney, Kitty Lou Fazanbaker, Joan Harman, Virginia Harman, Susanne Hederick, Becky Hutson, Betsy Lee, Jo Ann Otto, and Marcia Wright.

The ceremony was closed with the friendship circle.

LONNIE JACKSON

L. I. Jackson Candidate For City Council

Lonnie I. Jackson, 531 Patterson Avenue, has announced he will be a candidate in the June 3 primary election for City Council.

In announcing his candidacy, Jackson said he has never been a candidate for public office but has been urged to run by his many friends and acquaintances.

He stated: "I am not associated with any faction and do not intend to be. I will represent the people of Cumberland and work towards a better community."

A graduate of Selbyville (W. Va.) High School, he has resided in Cumberland 31 years and has been employed at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company 30 years where he is foreman in the final finishing department.

Jackson served two terms as governor of Cumberland Lodge 271, L.O.O.M. and holds a governor's merit award presented by the national organization for outstanding lodge and civic services.

He is a member of the Legion of Moose, Fellowship Degree. He is also a past president of the Auxiliary Police of which he has been a member six years, and a past president of the Hot Stove Baseball League and Pen-Mar Little League.

He has managed the Rotary Club team in the Hot Stove Baseball League eight years, and is a member of Fort Cumberland Lodge 211, AF&AM.

Jackson is married to the former Miss Hazel Walker and they are the parents of three children. Joy Ann Jackson, a member of the staff at Kelly-Springfield Tire Company; Mrs. Delores Jean (Jackson) Miller, and Lonnie R. Jackson, a student at Fairmont State Teachers College where he was a member of the football and baseball teams.

Legion Again Requests VA Direct Loans

Wants Political Candidates Quizzed

Two resolutions, both of which emanated from Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, were approved yesterday at a meeting of Mountain District American Legion in Lonaconing.

The first is in the form of a letter to the Veterans Administration urging that the VA again consider the qualification of Allegany County as an area where veterans may obtain direct home loan financing.

The letter points out that the same request was made several months ago, but at that time after a review of the area, representatives of the VA loan division did not qualify Cumberland and Allegany County for direct loan applications.

Survey Requested

"However, in view of the present national recession and the continued disinclination on the part of local financial institutions to engage in veteran loan home financing, we are again requesting that your office conduct a survey" to determine eligibility of the area, the letter said.

"We feel if this qualification is forthcoming that it will do much to help the economy of this area, as well as enable the veterans of this area to take full advantage of the two-year extension which has been given the Veterans Housing Program."

The other resolution concerns the Hoover Commission and Bradley Commission reports.

Recommendations in these reports, the Legionnaires said, would disqualify numerous veterans from medical treatment and hospitalization due them; would result in the reduction of pensions from Social Security benefits and lower the existing limitations on the recipients of veterans' pensions.

Would Poll Candidates

The resolution calls upon the Maryland Department of American Legion to have its legislative committee interrogate Senate and Congressional candidates about their attitudes on the Hoover and Bradley reports.

District Legionnaires said the request to the VA will be followed by similar requests from other veterans' organizations, and the resolution calling for the quiz of political candidates will be presented to the state convention in Baltimore next July.

State Planning $15 Million In Construction

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gov. McKeldin said Sunday the state will advertise for bids on nearly 15 million dollars worth of construction projects between now and September.

McKeldin criticized the 1958 General Assembly for cutting nearly five million dollars from the capital improvements program he proposed, but he said necessary Maryland construction projects are still adding to the employment of skilled and unskilled labor.

The governor said projects worth more than one and one-half million dollars are now in the process of being awarded.

Another three million dollars worth of construction will be advertised for bids between now and June 1. And still another 10 million dollars worth will be ready for bidding between June and September, he said.

The governor announced these figures in a radio speech transcribed for broadcast today. It was the sixth in a series of weekly radio talks.

McKeldin noted that many major state construction projects are underway. He cited such big projects as the state office buildings in Annapolis and Baltimore and a new wing for Montebello State Hospital.

"We in government stand ready to take such sound and essential steps as are indicated by the developing circumstances — but not in a manner to drug people again into a prolonged era of dependence."

"We look to industry to join with us in a show of confidence — to sell their products by enterprise — and to expend their plants while labor is plentiful," the governor said.

McKeldin expressed a "deep concern . . . for those who have been deprived of their incomes in the current receding from the recent high levels of prosperity."

But he said "it is heartening to note that there is no panic — no mad rush of withdrawals from savings accounts — and that there has been no wild speculation in stocks to undermine the foundations of our economic strength."

Airman Is Home
Airman 3/c Ronald R. Cross has completed his basic training at Lackland AFB, Texas, and is spending a 15-day furlough at the home of his mother, Mrs. Evelyn Cross, Memorial Avenue. He then reports to Plattsburg, N. Y., for further training.

PVC Holds 4th Annual Track Meet At Beall Wednesday

Five Schools To Compete In 12 Events

Three Meets Billed At Frostburg; Fort Hill Host Saturday

The Potomac Valley Conference will hold its fourth annual track and field meet Wednesday at 3 p.m., EDT., at Beall High School Stadium, according to John R. Shelton, track mentor of Keyser High School.

Twelve events appear on the program and the schools expecting to compete are Keyser, Ridgeley, Berkeley Springs, Romney High and West Virginia School for the Deaf of Romney.

Events are the 100 and 220-yard dashes, 440 and 880 yard and mile runs, discus, shot put, high jump, broad jump, 440 relay, 880 relay and mile relay.

Romney and Berkeley Springs won the PVC meets held at Fort Hill Stadium in 1952 and 1953. Last year Ridgeley High won at Berkeley Springs.

Two other meets will be held this week at the Beall Stadium. Frostburg State Teachers College and Fairmont (W.Va.) State's Falcons will tangle in a dual affair there Tuesday while the Ridgeley and Beall junior high track teams will clash there Thursday.

Allegany High School, winner of two meets to date, will participate in a triangular meet with South Hagerstown High School and a Pennsylvania School at South Hagerstown on Thursday.

Coach William P. Hahn last night announced that four schools will vie in the annual Fort Hill Invitational Meet here Saturday at 1:30 p.m. The Sentinels will play host to Montgomery Blair High of Silver Spring, Md., winner here the past two years, Martinsburg and Beall in a program of 15 events.

Potomac Cops 6th, Bobcats Win, 6-4

Potomac State College posted its sixth win of the season on Saturday by walling off Alderson-Broaddus College in a WVAC contest at Phillip, W. Va., by the score of 14-5.

"Bink" Barlow kept his pitching record perfect by posting his fourth triumph of the campaign. "Skip" Dellagatti took over the mound chores in the 5th and finished for the Catamounts.

Dellagatti batted a two-run homer and a single and McFadden smacked three singles and Hudock a double and single to pace Potomac's 14-hit assault.

Frostburg State's Bobcats shook a 3-game losing streak by defeating Hagerstown Junior College in the Hub City by the score of 6-4 in 11 innings. Johnny Keister, who relieved Hugh Nolan in the 9th inning credit for the win, Arch Lennon's double and Terry Miles' sacrifice gave the Bobcats the deciding tallies in the top of the 11th. Kline and Keister shared six of the winning team's 13 hits. Hagerstown was limited to four blows.

Sharrar Presented Roger Hicks Award

MORGANTOWN (P) — Center Floyd Sharrar was presented the Roger Hicks Memorial Award as the outstanding player on West Virginia's basketball team, at a banquet honoring the team Saturday.

The award is based on scholarship, sportsmanship, and basketball performance. It is given annually in honor of the late Roger (Shorty) Hicks of Moundsville, a member of the 1942 WVU team which won the National Invitational Tournament championship.

Dodgers Will Put Some Games On TV

LOS ANGELES (P) — The Los Angeles Dodgers changed signals Sunday and decided to put some of their games away from home on television.

President Walter F. O'Malley said that all the remaining Los Angeles games at San Francisco will be televised back to Los Angeles.

The Dodgers had been criticized in the press for not providing television of games away from home on the grounds that such television would build up a bigger fan following.

Grid Officials Meet

The spring meeting of the Potomac Valley Football Officials Association will be held Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the team and coaches' room of the Wilson Hardware Company, according to John R. Shelton, secretary.

Marshall Of Royals Suffers Broken Jaw

CINCINNATI, O., April 27. (INS)—Guard Tom Marshall, 27, of the Cincinnati Royals basketball team is being treated for a broken jaw and other face injuries today.

Marshall was hospitalized in Ft. Thomas, Ky., near Cincinnati, last night after he was involved in an auto accident.

Maurice Stokes, Marshall's team mate, has been unconscious for several weeks. He is suffering from encephalitis.

Pat Robinson

NEW YORK, April 27.—(INS)—Truman Gibson, who succeeds multi-millionaire Jim Norris, as head of the International Boxing Club, has packed a lot of varied experience into his 46 years.

He was once an athlete at Colgate, a graduate of the Chicago University Law School, has been in the War Department, has owned hockey teams and a stable of race horses, broke into boxing as Joe Louis' lawyer, and has been executive vice president of the IBC.

He is a suave gentleman with a brilliant mind and an easy-going manner.

He is the first Negro to hold so high a position in promotional fight circles and now, as head of the IBC, he will be in effect the czar of boxing in this country.

He comes into control of the fight racket at a time when the majority of the fighters in this country are Negroes. The heavyweight champion, Floyd Patterson, is a Negro. So is Archie Moore, the aged light heavyweight king. So, too, is Sugar Ray Robinson, the middleweight titleholder. The lightweight king, Joe Brown, and Hogan Bassey, the featherweight boss, also are Negroes.

And the new welterweight champion probably will be a Negro when Virgil Akins catches up with Vince Martinez come June 6 at a site yet to be selected.

Bill Daly, manager of Martinez, said today the fight might wind up in Newark

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, April 27 (INS)—Bette Davis had no more than set foot in her home in Maine after weeks on the coast than she started packing to be ready to sail May 6th on the SS Independence for Spain and "John Paul Jones."

The bid from producer Sam Bronston for her to play Catherine the Great—$50,000 in non-recession money—was too much to turn down although she recently signed a radio contract. She'll do the radio show aboard ship.

Bette has just four days work as Catherine. It's called a guest appearance such as Mike Todd introduced in "80 Days."

Bronston and director John Farrow have arranged for Bette scenes to be shot at the Royal Palace in Madrid with permission of the Spanish government.

Tony Curtis and his two-year-old daughter, Kelly Lee, paid me a visit, and after the young chatter left for her outing in the park Tony told me some very interesting news.

He said that his next picture starts July 15th and is opposite Marilyn Monroe in "Some Like It Hot." "I hadn't planned to do anything for a few months," Tony told me. "But I couldn't pass up the opportunity to play opposite Marilyn, so I told Harold Mirisch I would do it."

"You see I made five pictures within eighteen months and I planned to rest awhile. Marilyn plays a singer in a band in 'Some Like It Hot' and I play a musician too," said Tony.

John O'Hara certainly can have no beef on "10 North Frederick." Charles Brackett, the producer, and Philip Dunne, the director, have stuck close to the O'Hara novel with the result they have a big audience picture.

I was amazed at Suzy Parker who I would have bet was through in Hollywood. I didn't care for her first picture but believe me she's good in "10 North Frederick." Diane Varsi, I continue to say, is one of the best young actresses who has ever come to Hollywood. As for Gary Cooper, there's only one of him in Hollywood and may he continue to be himself for many a day. Gerald ine Fitzgerald as the bitter scheming mother is exactly as the book pictures her. Tom Tully too merits praise. I prophesy "10 North Frederick" will be another "Peyton Place" at the box office for 20th Century-Fox.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

The three eldest daughters of Pat Boone underwent a mass tonsilectomy in New York, and just at a time when Pat's cramming for exams, too.

The new yellow diamond ring of many carats Linda Cristal is wearing was put on her finger by Robert Champion — but she's wearing it on her right hand.

Bobby Cohn, so, of the late Jack Cohn and nephew of Harry Cohn, has eyes only for pretty singer Connie Towers. They've been going steady for a year.

Nat King Cole is always a sure draw at the Coconut Grove and his opening brought out his large following. The Glenn Wallichs, the Nelson Riddle, Margaret G'Brien with Eddi Samuels (he's Eddie Fisher's accompanist), Jimmy Van Heusen were all ring-side.

At LaTue, Milton Rachmil was turning on the charm for Dorothy Towne, Jack Webb's ex, and at a table nearby Gay Humbestone, Lucky's ex, was talking animatedly with Howard Lang.

Congratulations to Carl Laemmle Jr., on reaching his 50th mark. He's being feted tomorrow night by Rosabelle and Stanley Bergerman with cocktails and buffet dinner.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

From now on, say the nice things you think, simply, sincerely and more often.

Secrets Of Charm

It's Nice To Hear

The person who is honored by special tribute from his friends

How many times in the past week have you thought something nice about someone — and said nothing about it? Why did you keep your good thoughts to yourself? Was there really a good reason?

Perhaps there was. There is risk of sounding bold or gushy in some cases. But these are few. The world would be a happier place if many more of us put into words the complimentary thoughts we have about each other. Most of us even enjoy a little blarney now and then however little we believe it.

is usually overwhelmed and very emotional about it. No matter how fully he deserves it, it always seems to come as a shock—so little of the praise and appreciation clearly rendered at last! It was apparent beforehand. Why shouldn't it be? Occasional words to brighten everyday routine may mean more than a testimonial occasion.

Let the one thing that loosens your tongue be sincerity. If the flattering thing you can say is true, say it unless it's too personal. Temper your words to the person and your relations with her or with him—of course you can't bubble over a co-worker you don't know too well as well as you can with your best friend. Speak simply, with taste and with restraint if need be, but speak when you honestly feel admiring. It's seldom that you can say the wrong thing when your feeling is genuine and understanding. And it's wonderful how what you say is enjoyed.

Right now you may have in mind someone who works beside you who needs more encouragement than is offered for doing a good job. Don't wait a day longer to express your sentiments. But think, too, of close friends and family members who are supposed to take your approval for granted. Sometimes they, more than anyone else, are the ones who hear little of praise from you—and they will appreciate it most.

Bandit Robs Bedford Motel

Lone Youth Flees With $100, Eludes Police Roadblocks

A young bandit held up the night clerk of a motel at the Bedford, Pa., entrance to the Pennsylvania Turnpike yesterday morning and escaped with approximately $100.

State Police said Glenn R. Spriggs, 22, clerk of the Midway Motel, was robbed at gunpoint by an unmasked youth who entered the motel office shortly after 1:30 a. m. (EST).

The holdup man—described by Mr. Spriggs as about 18 or 19 years old; 5 feet, 10 inches tall; 165 pounds; wearing a light tan raincoat, brown hat, white shirt and blue-green trousers—escaped in a dark-colored sedan, believed to be a 1955 or 1956 Ford.

Pulls Gun, Grabs Money

Mr. Spriggs said he was on duty alone when the youth walked into the motel office. The bandit pulled an automatic pistol from the pocket of his raincoat and ordered Mr. Spriggs to hand over the money in the cash register.

Mr. Spriggs told police the robber scooped up a handful of bills, mostly $10 and $20 denominations, and fled. He hopped into the waiting car and drove south on U. S. 220 toward Cumberland. The clerk added that the gunman apparently was alone.

State Police threw up a roadblock near the state line but did not turn up anyone answering the bandit's description.

Clerk Unhurt, "Shook Up"

An all-points alarm has been broadcast by police, alerting authorities throughout the eastern states.

However, late last night police said the man apparently had slipped by the roadblock or had turned off on one of the smaller side roads in the area.

Mr. Spriggs, although not harmed by the holdup man, said later of his experience that he was "considerably shook up."

Driver Held After Chase At 100 m.p.h

A 24-year-old serviceman is being held in Allegany County Jail on bonds totaling $1,703.35 after leading State Police on a wild chase through Allegany and Garrett counties Saturday night.

Police said Thomas G. Robinson was apprehended in Grantsville by Tfc. Glenn Folk after he had attempted to outrun State Police at speeds which they said were in excess of 100 miles per hour.

Police said the man, stationed at a missile base near Gaithersburg, outdistanced two police cruisers which chased him nearly 40 miles.

Trooper Kenneth W. Messman, stationed at Flintstone, said he first spotted Robinson traveling at a high rate of speed about 14 miles east of Cumberland. The trooper lost the car in Cumberland traffic after chasing it at high speed to the city limits.

The serviceman drove west and forced Trooper George Robnett of the highway in LaVale. Trooper Robnett chased the speeding car to Frostburg, getting near enough to obtain the license number. He then radioed ahead to Tfc. Folk, who nabbed Robinson at a gasoline station in Grantsville.

During the chase, police said, Robinson's vehicle struck a parked car at the intersection of U. S. Route 40 and Christie Road east of Cumberland.

The driver has been charged with exceeding 70 miles per hour, failure to stop after an accident in which property damage occurred, and improper passing. He will be given a hearing in Trial Magistrates Court here.

To Take Merit Test

Brother Paulian, principal of LaSalle High School, said last night 40 out of 57 members of the junior class will take the National Merit Scholarship qualifying test tomorrow.

The test will be administered by Brother Brendan. Special classes had been held at LaSalle in order to prepare the juniors for the test.

Brother Paulian said 33 seniors took the test when it was administered last October.

Soil Stewardship Week To Be Marked May 11-18

Allegany Soil Conservation District Supervisors have received literature on Soil Stewardship Week, May 11-18, and have been asked to distribute it to clergymen in the county.

At a meeting held in the office of Farm Agent Joseph M. Steger, the supervisors also completed a score sheet which will be entered in a contest being held by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company.

Martin Gordon, acting work unit conservationist, gave his monthly report at the meeting. He pointed out that land contour strips were laid on the farms of Frank and Charles Humbertson, Warrior Mountain; Charles Twigg, Hinkle Road; Nat Workman, Frostburg; Paul Browning, Murley's Branch; Thomas Aric, Oldtown; and Samuel Hartman, Midland, covering about 90 acres of land.

Farm pond surveys were made on the land of Louis V. Shinnaman, LaVale; and Richard Zeamer, Westernport, according to Mr. Gordon, who said ponds are now under construction on the property of Darby J. Healy, Oldtown; Eric Boyer, Piney Plains; and the Maplehurst Country Club.

He said 24 follow-up contacts were made with district co-operators. Kenneth Stone, soil scientist, spent most of the month of March in Garrett County mapping two per cent sampling areas related to soil and water conservation needs inventory.

Mr. Gordon also pointed out that three days in March were spent by his office personnel in helping to lay contour strips in Garrett County.

Long Attacks U. S. Policy In Near East

Support Israel, Candidate Urges

BALTIMORE (AP) — Clarence D. Long said Sunday the State Department's policy in the Middle East has "made a major contribution to the accomplishment of the interests of Russian Communism and of the enemies of Israel."

Long, a candidate for Democratic nomination to the U. S. Senate, called for a reappraisal of "the repeated tragic failures of Secretary of State Dulles' Middle East policies."

Long proposed these steps:

1. A follow-up declaration to the Eisenhower Doctrine, which "will guarantee the territorial integrity of the State of Israel."

2. That the U. S. delegation to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization move to have Israel invited to join the Atlantic Alliance.

3. Until this is done, offering Israel arms and military advice.

4. Demanding from Jordan and Iraq a guarantee that any American weapons placed at their disposal be used only for countering Soviet aggression.

5. The use of U. S. influence with the Baghdad pact organization to induce Iraq to conclude an armistice with Israel under United Nations auspices.

"The callousness and folly of State Department attitudes must be brought to an end," said Long. "And, if Secretary of State Dulles finds that this is embarrassing to his own ego, he should forthwith resign. But whether he resigns or not, the above measures should be taken by our State Department and without further delay."

Candidates In Howard County

The Democrats' hard plugging Senate candidates paraded their campaign appeal for the benefit of the Young Democrats of Howard County Saturday night.

All of the major aspirants to the nomination, that is, except Thomas D'Alessandro.

He was busy trying to rustle up votes for the May 20 primary test in Kent County and was delayed in trying to return for the Howard County party rally at West Friendship.

So he sent a substitute, John O. Rutherford, who is campaign secretary of the "harmony" ticket and clerk of the Baltimore City Court.

But Rutherford was accorded anything but a warm reception at the banquet held at West Friendship. In fact, he was booed when he first mentioned the Baltimore mayor's name.

There were mutterings among the crowd from time to time and Rutherford did not have an easy time arguing that D'Alessandro had been "the best mayor of Baltimore" and deserved promotion to Washington.

However, some in the gathering applauded when the speaker ticked off such D'Alessandro programs as building of schools, street paving and some other public improvements.

Others who appeared in the flesh found a receptive audience as they plugged their candidacies.

Mahoney, Bruce Speak

George P. Mahoney, five time runner in Maryland primaries who has never gained a general election victory, described himself as "one of the great salesmen of the Democratic party" who had gone out and met people in the highways and by-ways. One, furthermore, who had been a staunch party man through the years "even when it was popular to be a Republican a few years ago."

The backing came from the Housewives Alliance, a 31-year-old organization affiliated with the Federation of Women's Clubs and the Gavel Club of Baltimore.

Mrs. J. Edward Stier of Baltimore, president, said the group decided to support Mahoney because of his "great understanding of the problems of homemakers who, even in times of recession and reduced payrolls, must pay ever-increasing prices when they purchase food for their families."

The company has answered 12 alarms, 11 of them from brush fires, since April 1, and 130 man-hours were spent in quenching the fires.

Firemen urged residents of the LaVale area to be particularly careful when burning brush or grass during the next few weeks, and requested that people have a supply of water on hand when fires are started.

Three fire prevention movies will be shown today at 8 p. m. in the fire hall. The public is welcome and there is no admission.

LaVale Firemen Make 7 Runs In First Quarter

The LaVale Volunteer Fire Company answered seven alarms during the quarter ending March 31, according to a report issued yesterday by Fire Chief James Loar.

The alarms resulted from three blue fires, two brush fires, one vehicle fire and one overheated furnace. Damage was slight.

A total of 78 man-hours were used to fight the fires and an average of 16 men answered each alarm.

April's record is already higher than the first quarter total, Chief Loar said.

The company has answered 12 alarms, 11 of them from brush fires, since April 1, and 130 man-hours were spent in quenching the fires.

Firemen urged residents of the LaVale area to be particularly careful when burning brush or grass during the next few weeks, and requested that people have a supply of water on hand when fires are started.

Three fire prevention movies will be shown today at 8 p. m. in the fire hall. The public is welcome and there is no admission.

Woman Is Missing

Mrs. Rosie Mongold, 159 Polk Street, has been reported missing from her home since shortly after 7 p. m. Saturday. She is 50 years old, 5 feet, 4 inches tall, weighs 195 pounds and wears glasses. She had on a black coat when she left her home, City Police were told.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Healy, Alexandria, Va., announce the birth of a son there April 24. The mother is the former Miss Ruth Farrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Raymond Farrell, 521 Cumberland Street.

Memorial Hospital

Mr. and Mrs. Orval G. Rhodes, 9 East Roberts Street, a son last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Bruck, LaVale, a daughter yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Smith, 29 Water Street, a son yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman F. Geatz Jr., 815 Maplewood Lane, a son yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Dickey, 105 Fifth Street, a son Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dressman, RFD 1, city, a daughter Saturday.

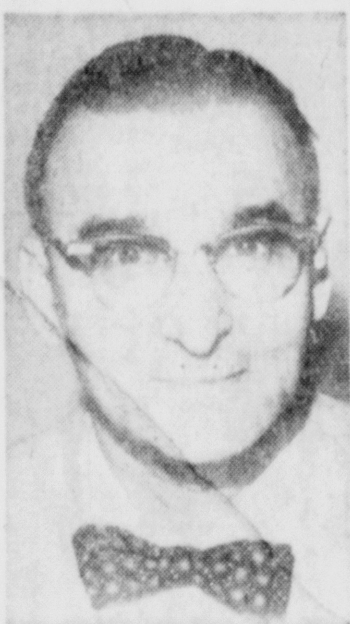

Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Seeker, Romney, W. Va., a daughter Saturday.

Church Foundation Is Prepared

Men and equipment of the Hazelwood Construction Company are speeding the construction of St. Paul's Lutheran Church edifice on the old Roman property at Washington and Smallwood streets. One wall of the foundation is seen formed in the background as a shovel dumps earth in a waiting truck. A rope blanket, used to blast for the foundation, is in the left foreground. The building is slated for completion early next spring under a $667,800 contract awarded the local firm.

SAMUEL J. WESTON

VA Office Gets New Chief; Hours Changed

The Cumberland office of the Veterans Administration is now in charge of Samuel J. Weston, who succeeds Frank T. Trawinski, transferred to the VA office at Perry Point Hospital.

R. T. Brown, acting manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Baltimore, said Mr. Weston has begun his duties here.

Mr. Weston started with the Administration in November 1943. He has served at Sioux Falls, S. D.; Roanoke, Va.; Baltimore, Hagerstown, Frederick and Howard. He has been in charge of offices at Hagerstown and Frederick.

Mr. Weston is married and has one daughter age 15. His family resides now at Williamsport and he plans to move there later. He is a veteran of World War II and was transferred here from the VA office at Fort Howard.

Mr. Weston stated that beginning today, the local office will inaugurate new service hours. The office, located on the third floor of the Cumberland Post Office Building, will open at 8:30 a. m. instead of 8 a. m. and will remain open until 5 p. m. instead of the previous closing hour of 4:30 p. m. A local survey shows that few claimants visit the office before 8:30 a. m. and occasionally visitors have been reported between 4:30 and 5 p. m. Mr. Weston believes the office can render better service to area veterans and their dependents if the hours are changed.

Man Is Sought On Check Charge

Local authorities are on the lookout for a man passing fraudulent checks in the Cumberland area.

City police said last night a local jeweler reported the check passer bought a radio about 10 days ago and wrote a $51 check in payment.

The check was made out on the Bank of Richmond in Virginia and signed by a George C. Woodling. It bounced, police stated. The suspect also is believed to have passed additional bad checks in the area.

He is described as about 50 to 55 years old, 5 feet, 9 inches tall, 175 pounds, dark complexion and dressed well.

County To Launch 1958 Cancer Drive Tomorrow

Allegany County will launch its 1958 cancer fund drive tomorrow evening when 500 "Cancer Crusaders" will begin a house-to-house canvass.

"Tomorrow we will be asking the citizens of Allegany County to support the 1958 Cancer Crusade. We believe they would like to know that 60 cents out of every dollar they give will stay right here in our state to be used for regional control programs and treatment of victims."

This statement was made by Dr. Benedict Skitarellic, chairman of the cancer campaign, in explaining the American Cancer Society's current budget.

Of the 40 per cent which is used by the national society, 25 per cent is allocated for research, 12 per cent for education, administration and fund raising, and the remainder is used for medical grants, fellowship, and advanced training in cancer diagnosis and treatment, according to Dr. Skitarellic.

Mrs. Fay Stillwagon, chairman of the house-to-house canvass, said most workers will make their calls between 5 p. m. and 8 p. m. tomorrow, while others will call earlier in the day or make call-backs on Wednesday if there is no one at home.

It is hoped by William Walsh, president of the Allegany County chapter, that at least $10,000 will be raised this year. He said that last year approximately $12,000 was raised during the fund drive.

Some captains still need workers, Mrs. Stillwagon said, and anyone interested in taking part in tomorrow's door-to-door canvass may contact Mrs. Stillwagon at PA 2-2766, or the county chapter's office, PA 2-2145.

Forum Set In Bowmans Addn.

Plans for eliminating health and fire hazards in the Bowmans Addition section will be discussed at a meeting in the community today.

Sponsored by the Allegany County Health Department and the Bowmans Addition Fire Department, the meeting will be held at 7 p. m. in the Bowmans Addition Fire Hall.

Speakers will include Dr. Ton van Strien, health officer, and J. B. Dowling, sanitarian, for the Health Department, and Garnett L. Minnick, president, and Leo C. Emerick, chief for the fire company.

Mr. Dowling said efforts will be made to eliminate some of the conditions which are developing in the area.

He said a recent survey showed about 62 trash piles, dumps or junk yards existing in the area without permits. The conditions, he added, depreciate property values in the neighborhood and create fire or health hazards.

Six Youngsters To Face Charges

Six Cumberland youngsters, three girls and three boys, will face hearings in Juvenile Court after police apprehended them in the act of taking several bottles of beer from the rear porch of a Hay Street residence.

City police said all were arrested after authorities received a call to investigate someone climbing over the rear porch of the building. The six range in age from 13 to 15.

LONNIE JACKSON

L. I. Jackson Candidate For City Council

Lonnie I. Jackson, 531 Patterson Avenue, has announced he will be a candidate in the June 3 primary election for City Council.

In announcing his candidacy, Jackson said he has never been a candidate for public office but has been urged to run by his many friends and acquaintances.

He stated: "I am not associated with any faction and do not intend to be. I will represent the people of Cumberland and work towards a better community."

A graduate of Selbyville (W. Va.) High School, he has resided in Cumberland 31 years and has been employed at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company 30 years where he is foreman in the final finishing department.

Jackson served two terms as governor of Cumberland Lodge 271, LOOM, and holds a governor's merit award presented by the national organization for outstanding lodge and civic services.

He is a member of the Legion of Moose, Fellowship Degree. He is also a past president of the Auxiliary Police of which he has been a member six years, and a past president of the Hot Stove Baseball League and Pen-Mar Little League.

He has managed the Rotary Club team in the Hot Stove Baseball League eight years, and is a member of Fort Cumberland Lodge 211, AF&AM.

Jackson is married to the former Miss Hazel Walker and they are the parents of three children. Joy Ann Jackson, a member of the staff at Kelly-Springfield Tire Company; Mrs. Delores Jean (Jackson) Miller, and Lonnie R. Jackson, a student at Fairmont State Teachers College where he was a member of the football and baseball teams.

Legion Again Requests VA Direct Loans

Wants Political Candidates Quizzed

Two resolutions, both of which emanated from Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, were approved yesterday at a meeting of Mountain District American Legion in Lonaconing.

The first is in the form of a letter to the Veterans Administration urging that the VA again consider the qualification of Allegany County as an area where veterans may obtain direct home loan financing.

The letter points out that the same request was made several months ago, but at that time after a review of the area, representatives of the VA loan division did not qualify Cumberland and Allegany County for direct loan applications.

Survey Requested

"However, in view of the present national recession and the continued disinclination on the part of local financial institutions to engage in veteran loan home financing, we are again requesting that your office conduct a survey" to determine eligibility of the area, the letter said.

"We feel if this qualification is forthcoming that it will do much to help the economy of this area, as well as enable the veterans of this area to take full advantage of the two-year extension which has been given the Veterans Housing Program."

The other resolution concerns the Hoover Commission and Bradley Commission reports.

Recommendations in these reports, the Legionnaires said, would disqualify numerous veterans from medical treatment and hospitalization due them; would result in the reduction of pensions from Social Security benefits and lower the existing limitations on the recipients of veterans' pensions.

Would Poll Candidates

The resolution calls upon the Maryland Department of American Legion to have its legislative committee interrogate Senate and Congressional candidates about their attitudes on the Hoover and Bradley reports.

District Legionnaires said the request to the VA will be followed by similar requests from other veterans' organizations, and the resolution calling for the quiz of political candidates will be presented to the state convention in Baltimore next July.

State Planning $15 Million In Construction

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gov. McKeldin said Sunday the state will advertise for bids on nearly 15 million dollars worth of construction projects between now and September.

McKeldin criticized the 1958 General Assembly for cutting nearly five million dollars from the capital improvements program he proposed, but he said necessary Maryland construction projects are still adding to the employment of skilled and unskilled labor.

The governor said projects worth more than one and one-half million dollars are now in the process of being awarded.

Another three million dollars worth of construction will be advertised for bids between now and June 1. And still another 10 million dollars worth will be ready for bidding between June and September, he said.

The governor announced these figures in a radio speech transcribed for broadcast today. It was the sixth in a series of weekly radio talks.

McKeldin noted that many major state construction projects are underway. He cited such big projects as the state office buildings in Annapolis and Baltimore and a new wing for Montebello State Hospital.

"We in government stand ready to take such sound and essential steps as are indicated by the developing circumstances — but not in a manner to drag people again into a prolonged era of dependence."

"We look to industry to join with us in a show of confidence — to sell their products by enterprise — and to expend their plants while labor is plentiful," the governor said.

McKeldin expressed a "deep concern . . . for those who have been deprived of their incomes in the current receding from the recent high levels of prosperity."

But he said "it is heartening to note that there is no panic — no mad rush of withdrawals from savings accounts — and that there has been no wild speculation in stocks to undermine the foundations of our economic strength."

Airman Is Home

Airman 3/c Ronald R. Cross has completed his basic training at Lackland AFB, Texas, and is spending a 15-day furlough at the home of his mother, Mrs. Evelyn Cross, Memorial Avenue. He then reports to Plattsburg, N. Y., for further training.
